FANFANI
... worst beating

Fanfani Regime At End?

ROME (AP)—Italy's unpredictable voters have handed Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democrat party its worst election beating. His leadership government is in jeopardy.

Returns Tuesday from week-end balloting gave Communists on the left and Liberals on the right their biggest parliamentary gains ever.

RANK NO. 1

The Communists, picking up 1,000,000 votes over their showing in the 1958 election, won a quarter of the some 31,000,000 votes cast. They rank as the No. 2 party in Italian politics.

The Christian Democrats maintained their standing as Italy's No. 1 party, but with little consolation.

Their total seats dropped to 41 from 46 per cent in the Chamber of Deputies and to 42 from 50 per cent in the Senate.

SOCIALISTS IMPROVE

Among their partners in a coalition government that has experimentally swung the North Atlantic Treaty nation leftward, only the Democratic Socialists improved on their 1958 showing. The Republicans

Ben Bella Solidifies Control

ALGERIA (UPI)—The Algerian government announced today the resignation of a third top official, leaving Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in virtual one-man control of the country.

The announcement, which said Ben Bella provisionally assumed the minister's portfolio, meant he controls five of the top key government offices and is the ruling National Liberation Front.

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — Officials Tuesday night declared this town and a nearby fishing village, both located on an island, an emergency area as an ice jam at the mouth of the Hay River continued to threaten the communities with serious flooding.

Low-lying areas in this town of 1,800 and in the fishing village, which has about 400 residents, were already under several feet of water.

WATER BACKS UP

The flooding was caused by river ice jamming against ice-covered Great Slave Lake, causing water to back up along the west and east channels of the island.

Mayor W. R. McBryan said the most serious threat is to the fishing village on the island's west channel.

TAKE TO BOATS?

He said village residents have moved to buildings on higher ground but may have to board boats "if the ice doesn't crush them."

Mr. McBryan said "it could be some time before relief comes through breaking up of lake ice. We've declared it an emergency area."

ARMY ON WAY

"An army demolition team is on its way from Edmonton but I don't know if they'll be able to do anything," Mayor McBryan said.

If it becomes necessary residents of both the town and village would be evacuated to the mainland. About 300 residents of an Indian village on the mainland have already moved farther inland.

SHELTER IN SCHOOLS

The mayor said between 300 and 400 persons are sheltered in the federal school here and a similar number in the separate school. Other town residents are in a number of smaller buildings on high ground.

Evacuation is not the major problem, he said, pointing out that the town has a 10-day supply of filtered water.

HEALTH HAZARD

"When this thing is over we're going to have a very serious health hazard," he said.

All stores and bars in the town have been closed.

Hay River residents were warned by the sounding of a siren at 6:30 p.m. MST Tuesday to move to high ground. The majority went to the schools.

Cuba Deal Charged

Dominicans Claim Haiti Link to Reds

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican government charged Tuesday that President Francois Duvalier of Haiti had close ties with Communist nations and had offered a military base to Cuba.

The latest charge in Santo Domingo's blazing feud with neighboring Haiti was laid before an inter-American peace mission by Foreign Minister Andres Freites.

The mission arrived by plane from New York to head off a threatened military clash between the two neighbors then flew on to Port au Prince.

Associated Press correspondent Morris Rosenberg in Port au Prince reported Duvalier's regime imposed censorship on outgoing news dispatches shortly after the team from the Organization of American States arrived.

Details of Freites' charges were not made public, but there were reports that Haiti had entered into some sort of arrangement with Communist Czechoslovakia.

UNAWARE OF DEAL

In Washington, U.S. state department press officer Lincoln White said he was unaware of an offer by Duvalier to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro nor did he know anything about reports of a deal between Czechoslovakia and Haiti. Haiti is only 50 miles from Cuba.

The mission, headed by OAS council President Gonzalo Fazio of Costa Rica, scheduled talks in Port au Prince with Duvalier and Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers to try to calm tensions and head off a conflict between the neighboring enemies on this Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

All-Night Lineup For Lots

Some watched television, chatted, read, or drank coffee, but all were gathered in Esquimalt Municipal Hall last night for one purpose—to make sure they would be first to purchase a lot on the new subdivision at Lugrin Place. The lots go on sale at 9 a.m. today.

The land rush, Esquimalt style, started about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when the municipal hall received a phone call enquiring whether the lineup for land had started.

That was Charles Arkinistall, 242 1/2 Island Highway. He had supper then drove down, not hurrying. When he arrived, the line had started.

First at the hall were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark, 3474 Seymour. The hall door was locked so they got police to open up. By 9 p.m., complete with lunches, sleeping bags and books, 12 people were gathered in the hall waiting for the office to open at 9 a.m. when the 17 lots ranging from $1,800 to $2,500 go on sale.

Atlantic Community

CLOSER TIES MIKE'S GOAL

PEARSON

On Way To U.K.

TORONTO (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson's air force Yukon aircraft took off for London early today for a round of top level talks with British Premier Macmillan. Pearson's plane was due in London at 7 a.m. PDT.

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson, about to head into separate talks with Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy, said Tuesday night that his life-long dream has been the creation of an Atlantic community joined indissolubly by spiritual, moral and economic bonds.

He told the annual dinner of The Canadian Press that such a community would be an important step toward world peace.

"It is my duty—and my determination—to protect and advance the interests of my country," he said. "It is also my duty—and my determination—to remember that, in doing this, Canada must work for peace and progress; and that this can only be done by cultivating the best possible relations with other nations."

MENTIONS FIRST GOAL

"First among these, are the nations of the Commonwealth and the Atlantic coalition. To create and maintain the greatest possible unity among these nations, for security and for peace and for prosperity, will be a first objective of the foreign policy of the present Canadian government."

ATLANTIC COMMUNITY

"One of my most cherished dreams for a long time has been to see one day an Atlantic community linked by an unbreakable spiritual, moral, social and economic bonds that its common life will have a paramount influence, not only on the lives of its member peoples, but on the hopes of all peoples for peace and human brotherhood."

MORE CONFIDENCE

Mr. Pearson told the gathering that he believes, there already is increased confidence in Canada among Canadians and also among other nations.

"If I am right, this tangible, though vital, result could be a very long step toward the solution to most of our problems. For without confidence little else matters. With it, and with hard work, with sound policies, and with wise action, we can move mountains."

PRIORITY LIST

Making his first public address since being sworn in as Canada's 14th prime minister eight days ago, the Liberal leader told his audience of 460 that the restoration of confidence in Canadian affairs is the first item on his list of priority items to be tackled by the new government.

Mr. Pearson indicated that he has been disturbed by press attention to his campaign promise of "90 days of decision."

'HAS CAUSED STIR'

"It has caused quite a stir in Parliament Hill, especially in the press gallery," he told the gathering of publishers, editors and newspaper executives.

"Every day that goes by is ticked off as one day of action gone by. I have even been asked whether Sundays count!"

"I have been told that members of the press gallery are keeping a close check on each day's developments, keeping a detailed record for posterity, I suppose."

KEEPING BOX MORE

"I understand they plan regular recapitulations—weekly, after 10 days, after 20—with a full form chart to be published after 30 days of 'hits, runs and errors,' especially errors."

Mr. Pearson said he is concerned that after 90 days there may be an idea that the government's job is done.

"This is not my intention."

He said he is anxious to get started on the legislative program for the 26th Parliament which is to open Thursday, May 16.

VITAL ROLE

Mr. Pearson said the press of Canada has a vital role to play in meeting the challenges which face the nation.

"So I invite your vigilance. I expect your criticism. I need your help and co-operation, not in a partisan way but in the difficult tasks it is now my honor, my privilege and my responsibility to carry out."

Castro Cause

U.S. Staff Snubs Red Celebrations

MOSCOW (UPI) — A U.S. embassy spokesman said Ambassador Foy Kohler and the embassy staff are boycotting the Soviet May Day celebrations today in Red Square in which Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was starred.

It was the first such May Day boycott since the United States established relations with the Soviet Union in 1933.

The spokesman declined to state the official reason for the boycott. However, it was understood to have been sparked by the presence of Castro.

ATTACKS U.S.

Disclosure of the U.S. boycott came as Defence Minister Malinovsky opened the May Day festivities.

Malinovsky accused the United States and its allies of hatching reckless plans for triggering off a world thermonuclear war.

He warned that the Soviet armed forces "are at constant battle readiness and are capable together with the armies of the Socialist countries of smashing any aggressor if he should dare to carry out an attack on our homeland and the fraternal Socialist countries."

CASTRO TO COUNTRY

Premier Khrushchev and Premier Castro took a break Tuesday in their private talks in the Kremlin and drove to Khrushchev's country home 30 miles outside Moscow for what the government newspaper Izvestia called another "lively conversation."

He warned that the Soviet armed forces "are at constant battle readiness and are capable together with the armies of the Socialist countries of smashing any aggressor if he should dare to carry out an attack on our homeland and the fraternal Socialist countries."

Kill! Kill! Kill!—1,250 Times

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbia University professor claims $22,000,000,000 can be clipped from the 1964 U.S. military budget which as drafted authorizes an outlay of $56,700,000,000.

Seymour Melman, a professor of industrial engineering at Columbia, with five other university faculty members and a professional economist, say they have sent details of their proposal to members of Congress and the executive department of the U.S. government.

A major point in Melman's argument is that the defence department has far more nuclear weapons than are needed to blast all potential targets.

Melman said the United States could "overkill" the Soviet Union by 1,250 times. He said the United States has about 3,400 strategic weapons—aircraft and missiles—with a stockpile of nuclear warheads twice the number deliverable by the weapons systems; Russia has about 140 cities of more than 100,000 population which would be overkilled 1,250 times if all warheads were used, even allowing for a 50-per-cent failure in delivery.

Melman also says Russia's nuclear arsenal is adequate for an overkill of U.S. targets by 145 times.

On military manpower strength, the United States and its allies muster 8,008,000 men against 7,700,000 for the Communist bloc, Melman believes.

What Melman and his associates propose is a "maintenance" of "present" forces

budget, with sharp reduction in procurement of weapons, a slash in research, developing and testing and other cuts to make the total reduction $22,000,000,000. He would cut the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's budget by two-thirds because "it makes no sense to continue plants and filling warehouses and sewers with further nuclear warheads."

He would chop off entirely foreign military assistance from what he says is the administration budget proposal for $3,883,000,000.

Gull Disables Jet, 100 Safe

LONDON (Reuters) — A TCA DC-8 jetliner with 100 persons aboard landed safely at London Airport Tuesday after a seagull hit one engine, putting it out of action.

The gull apparently flew into the plane's No. 2 engine after the craft took off from Scotland's Prestwick Airport on a transatlantic flight to Montreal.

Another pilot spotted the incident and warned Capt. J. Smith, the TCA pilot. After circling over the sea for 45 minutes dumping fuel the plane was diverted to London. Four infants were among the 90 passengers.

OTTAWA (CP) — The engineers of the New Democratic divorce blockade in Parliament say they won't give it up without either a royal commission on parliamentary divorce or designation of a court to handle divorces of Quebec and Newfoundland residents.

Arnold Peters, MP for Timiskaming, said Tuesday neither he nor Frank Howard, MP for Skeena, would be willing to pave the way for a four-party agreement that would permit rapid passage of a backlog of some 700 divorce bills.

It is understood negotiations with this end in view have been under consideration within the Liberal government.

Jayne Divorces Muscled Mickey

JUAREZ, Mexico (UPI) — Actress Jayne Mansfield, with a probable new husband at her side, divorced Mickey Hargitay in five minutes in a Mexican court Tuesday.

"We love each other and hope to marry. She plays on the string of my heart," Nelson Sardelli, Hargitay's probable replacement, announced as soon as Miss Mansfield had signed the papers in red ink.

Miss Mansfield divorced Hargitay, 32, on the grounds of incompatibility.

Miss Mansfield gave her age as 28. She said she and Hargitay already have made a property settlement and arranged for custody of their two children.

The children are Miklos, 4, and Zoltan, 2. They are with her stepfather and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Peers, in Dallas. She wed Hargitay, her second husband, in January, 1958.

Her first husband was Paul Mansfield, a public relations

NELSON SARDELLI ... baggage problem

man. They had a daughter, Jayne Marie, now 12 and living with her father in Los Angeles.

Miss Mansfield wore for her divorce a clinging yellow dress and a mink stole. Sardelli identified himself as an actor and singer of Italian extraction, born in Brazil. He is not as muscular as Hargitay.

After staying Monday night with her stepfather and mother, they boarded a plane for El Paso, Tex., across the Rio Grande from Juarez. Sardelli pushed the luggage to the plane in a cart.

"Boy, I wish Hargitay were here to help with the baggage," he said.

Peers saw his stepdaughter off. As Sardelli boarded the plane, he shook hands with Peers.

"It has been a pleasure," Sardelli said.

Miss Mansfield said she simply could not get along with Hargitay. She sued for divorce on the ground of cruelty last May in California but withdrew the suit.

She later returned to Hargitay and eventually decided to go ahead with a divorce.

"Our paths in life might be smoother separately," she said. She denied movie careers caused their troubles. "It is as easy to be happy in Hollywood following movie careers as it is for a bus driver and his wife to be happy anywhere."

"It's been all over for Mickey and me for a long time," she said. "I just haven't had any peace of mind. But now I do. I feel better about it."

Rusk Cites Allies As Best War Curb

KARACHI, Pakistan (UPI) — U.S. Secretary of State Rusk said Tuesday the entire free world is "still under the gun" of a wide-ranging Communist menace even with the "major threat" from Cuba removed.

Rusk told the opening session of the Central Treaty Organization ministers' council the two major new challenges to world security in the past year were the introduction of Soviet weapons in Cuba and the Communist Chinese attack on India.

NEVER ATTACKED

Rusk said no member of any Western alliance, NATO, SEATO or CENTO, ever had been the victim of aggression since joining the defence pacts. "But some others in the free world have not been so fortunate."

He described defence alliances as "the most effective way to keep peace and prevent war by error."

'Mixed Commission' Seeking Laos Peace

VIENTIANE, Laos (UPI) — Neutralist Premier Prince Souvanna Phouma said Tuesday he and Prince Souphanouvong leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, have agreed to set up a "mixed commission" to try to work out a more stable cease-fire.

Paratroop Gen. Kong Le, leader of the neutralist faction in Laos, did not attend the meeting at the Pathet Lao headquarters town of Khang Khay, apparently because he feared for his safety.

Souphanouvong's and Kong Le's forces, allies in the civil war against the right-wing forces of Gen. Phoumi Nounavan, have been fighting for control of strategic areas of the Plain of Jars in recent weeks. The area was reported quiet Tuesday.

Souvanna said he will meet again with Souphanouvong Thursday and try to work out some means for "safeguarding the present Laotian government."

Useless Estimate

IN CONNECTION with the Saanich approach on purchasing the Elk and Beaver Lakes property the city has evaluated the land in terms of subdivision for homes, calculating that it could be carved up into 1,830 lots worth at least $3,272,000.

If there is any point to this exercise, and the appraisal of Victoria's other "outside" recreation grounds at Thetis Lake, Durrance Lake and the Gorge by the same method, it can only be that the figures are intended to impress everyone—Saanich in particular—that these are assets not lightly to be relinquished.

But that point scarcely needs making, the less at the cost of creating the impression, surely false, that city council would seriously contemplate turning the parklands into housing subdivisions and, it is even intimated, stripping them of timber first.

Nor can a valuation of more than $3,000,000 on the property at Elk and Beaver Lakes be regarded, by the same token, as anything like a proper starting point for negotiations between Saanich and the city. The present use of the land is as a park in practice, and Saanich if able to acquire it for a reasonable price proposes to make it a park in fact, dedicating it for that purpose. Its value in the hypothetical case of subdivision has nothing to do with the actuality.

Five years ago the city manager put before the mayor and aldermen a report suggesting that the metropolitan water board buy the property from Victoria and administer and develop it as a Greater Victoria park, with the cost added to the water bills of all customers within the community's municipal limits—probably about 13 cents a month for the residential consumer.

Mr. Wyatt first estimated the value of the property, based on the original purchase prices totalling $38,689 and with interest at 5 per cent compounded annually, at $864,113. (The purchases were made over a period of years stretching back to 1879.) But in arriving at the 13-cents-a-month cost he chose $250,000 as his proposed price to the water board.

If the land were to be sold to private interests its market value could run into a very sizable amount, Mr. Wyatt said, "on the other hand if the property is to be used in particular for the benefit of the people residing in the Greater-Victoria area then it seems that the value should not have the same significance."

The same reasoning applies now, and to nurture chances of Saanich acquiring the Beaver and Elk Lakes watershed, dedicating it as a park, freeing Victoria of its annual contributions toward the maintenance and development of this recreation ground well beyond its borders and thus ending an anomaly that has long tended to breed ill feeling, city council could hardly be faulted by the ratepayers of Victoria for thinking in the same moderate terms Mr. Wyatt did then. Certainly nothing would be achieved by dreaming of a sum as large as $3,000,000 as the price tag.

As You Were

THERE IS MANY a slip between the cup and the lip, in this instance between election night results and the final official returns. Premier Robichaud of New Brunswick has cause to note this with some chagrin.

Last week the initial returns of the N.B. provincial election proclaimed a gain of three seats for his Liberal administration, and the premier declared himself "thrilled" with the victory, which he interpreted as "very positive endorsement" of his government. A local Liberal newspaper talked of him "piling it on."

Alas, it turns out now he didn't pile it on at all. The official count announced this week shows both contesting parties to be exactly as they were at dissolution, 31 Liberals and 21 Conservatives. In a sense the election was held for nothing for the standings remain exactly the same.

The moral is that politicians would be wise to delay until the chickens are fully hatched before they count them. Mr. Pearson learned this a year ago when early federal returns seemed to indicate his propulsion to the prime ministership. He spoke then, prematurely, of his victory.

Last month he was much more cautious, waiting until the final moment when all was clear before assuming that he would indeed take over the reins at Ottawa.

Mr. Robichaud did not lose and can be contented with remaining in office, but the "thrill" that proclaimed "positive endorsement" must have lost much of its inspiration. His administration is back as it was before New Brunswick votes were cast, without the greater mandate he sought.

Apprenticeship

WHETHER the city can afford it or not might be a stumbling block, although if a community wants to get the best kind of police protection it can't afford to be parsimonious, but the police union has advanced in its proposal of a cadet training system something well worth study.

Briefly the plan would enlist young men who would handle certain duties—clerical, parking check, photography, fingerprinting, handling lost and found property, etc.—while being trained for full-time police work. It would mean in substitution for a probationary period, often in the end unsatisfactory, a graduation in knowledge and competence towards the day when police cadets took their place as full-fledged members of the force.

Some other cities across the country have such a training program, and in effect this means what in other realms is termed an apprenticeship system. In a broad sense some trades suffer from lack of proper apprenticeship and workmen often claim "journeyman" status while ill-equipped for the title.

A police force, after all, should have real journeymen on the job, and a legitimate training program of this nature could only increase the general standards of officers and, what is of no little importance, enhance the pride and prestige of service in the local force. One might wish that all of the Greater Victoria area could be combined in training of this kind.

The Victoria police union can be commended for its proposal, if only as an indication of its own earnest desire to raise the character and efficiency of the department it serves, albeit one trusts the scheme will have the consideration it warrants.

The armed forces find it imperative to graduate their personnel by "apprenticeship" training; an effective police organization needs no less a program to ensure its quality.

Thinking Aloud

By TOM TAYLOR

NEXT month it is they say that marriages are lucky when taking place therein, "good to the man and happy to the maid" as the Romans had it, although many a bride risks this old superstition and isn't averse to some other month.

But sure enough I suppose the social pages will have more than their usual quota of weddings under the influence of June. And sure enough I shall hunt in vain for much ado about the bridegroom. A wedding wouldn't have quite the same flavor without a groom, I'm thinking, but he does get short shrift. No one cares what he wears, for example, nor do store windows emphasize the male trousseau for such occasions.

One groom who came in for enough attention to break the rule, was Mr. Ogilvy who married a princess last week. It was proof of universal interest that the CBC ran the telecast of this ceremony not once but twice, much to the delight of our local ladies.

They all love a wedding, their own and others too.

The groom in this instance couldn't complain; a London paper said he was "the answer to a maiden's prayer," and that you could judge for yourself.

But as usual it was the bride's day, not that any gentleman would deny her. One reporter described Alexandra's gown as a "magnolia-tinged confection"—what would you expect from a mere man—but I thought my feminine readers might like it recited in more delectable detail.

So here it is, or was:

"It was a supremely traditional dress, and yet she broke away from tradition in that its fine cotton lace was faintly tinted with magnolia instead of the customary pure white. The bodice of the dress was close fitting and simple, with a high round neckline and full-length sleeves, and flowed in an unbroken line into a skirt straight and smooth in front; sweeping to fullness at the back with a long train."

"The lace, in an acorn and oak leaf design, was over an identical dress of white tulle embroidered with small gold paillettes which glistened softly through the lace as the princess moved. On her head glittered the diamond fringe tiara that had once been worn by her mother, Princess Marina. It sat straight on her dark hair, which was waved softly over the temples, and held in place her heavy veil. Bordered with old Valenciennes lace, the veil fell in a curve the full length of her train."

Nothing about the groom's attire, you see, whether it was nylon or silk, black, blue or just "dark."

On the bridal register, however, I did notice he won priority. His name appeared first, reminding one that the clergyman always declares the principals of such events to be "man and wife," not the other way round.

Incidentally Alexandra is cited as "pinstrip," the usual form but somehow inimical to any young girl. I took the trouble to look up this term and found it derives from Anglo-Saxon days when women spun the fleece that clothed the family. A woman wasn't fit to be a bride until she'd spun a set of body, table and bed linen.

I rather doubt that Alexandra spun these in advance, but who knows she may weave her husband a kill.

Anyways, while local grooms, unlike Mr. Ogilvy, go overlooked in the social pages, let them remember the "obey" is the obligation of the distaff side, royal brides included.

The Packsack

OF GREGORY CLARK

A FATHER and son, both of whom lived to a little better than seventy years, usually span between them a period of a hundred years. Thus you only have to have about five sets of fathers and sons, one behind the other in a family history, to get back five hundred years to the time of Christopher Columbus' boyhood, or of old men who had served under the Black Prince at Crecy.

And when you consider how like his father each man is, in all important particulars, you can realize something that history does not teach, which is the fact that, actually, men haven't changed much in five hundred years.

The trick history plays on us is with pictures. We are shown costumes. History has museums to prove how different men looked, from century to century. But common sense, when we think of our fathers, let alone our grandfathers, tells us that superficial things like dress, or cooking utensils, wheelbarrows or sports cars, haven't made much difference in people. The jokes we laugh at today are the same jokes our fathers laughed at in the time of Julius Caesar, and they were likely old then. You, sitting reading this, are the living image of all your ancestors. They were probably as well-fed as you, though not so regularly.

United Arab Line-Up

'Occupied Palestine'

It's Not Israel to the Arabs

By REUBEN SLONIM from Jericho

TIME has not lessened Arab hatred of Israel. It is stronger today than it ever was.

For Jordanians, Israel is an obsession. Their border with her is longer than any of that of any other Arab country and it keeps reminding them of lost homes and shattered dreams.

A visitor stands with his taxi driver on a Judean hill and points to the west. "Isn't that Israel over there?"

"No," comes the answer, "that's occupied Palestine."

Most Jordanians are former Palestinians who never ceased to think in terms of returning to the homeland one day soon. This hope colors their every day living. It is the reason for the current pro-Nasser demonstration. It crops up in daily conversation at the slightest provocation.

One speaks of the lagging economy. "But how can we be prosperous when our thriving cities are in the hands of the Jewish usurper?"

One talks of the dearth of opportunity for Jordan's youth. "But what can you expect when the Jews have taken the best land?"

One compliments the hotel manager for his service and hospitality. "We welcome everybody in this whole wide world, Jordan, except the Zionists."

One laments with the governor of Jericho's refugee camp over the plight of the people in his care. "All problems of instability in the Middle East are due to the occupation of Palestine."

This governor is one of the young Arab intellectuals who hear so much about these days. He speaks quickly, chain-smokes, lives his way through an argument, confident of his facts and judgments.

"The Jews are our cousins. We are not fascists. We used to live in a free state. It is synthetic, a foreign substance of cancer."

Ben-Gurion is optimistic about peace with the Arabs. He is confident that though they may not see the wisdom of such a move now, it will come inevitably. One wonders on what basis the Israeli prime minister reaches such a conclusion.

Listen to Farhi Obeid, the young governor of Jericho, who guides the destinies of 100,000 Palestinian refugees, molds popular opinion and may one day wield even greater influence.

"Our troubles started with the first Zionist Congress in 1897, which set the purpose of capturing Palestine for the Jews. Then came Weizmann's poison, the Balfour Declaration of 1917."

"The Jews have money. You can do anything with money. It was Jewish money that influenced the British to issue the infamous declaration. It was obvious he had spinned out this argument before."

"Britain never said she would give the Jews a state but a national home. Yet she allowed Jewish immigration and even encouraged it."

"We oppose Jewish immigration. You can't give away your own country. But Britain had no regard for our wishes. Her mission was to divide Palestine and she finally accomplished it."

"She was aided and abetted by America who pushed the partition of Palestine through the UN and then recognized Israel. I say America. Maybe I should say Harry Truman. He used economic pressure on other nations to accept the independence of Israel." He paused.

"We hate Truman here." He paused again. I was about to ask a question, but he anticipated it.

"You say Russia also approved partition and recognized Israel? But she didn't do it in friendship to the Jews; she did it to create in the Middle East as an embarrassment to the West, the imperialist powers who armed the Jews so they could attack us."

"Not once did the Western nations keep their promise to us—from 1914 until today. Britain and France promised the Arabs independence if we would help drive out the Turks in the First World War. We did help and were stabbed in the back by the Sykes-Picot treaty, which divided the Arab lands between the British and France."

"America and Britain assured us after the Second World War that our interests would be preserved. Then they plunged the knife deeper by voting partition and recognizing Israel." His voice was beginning to get shrill, but suddenly it dropped.

"Even Glubb Pasha (Sir John Glubb, former commander of the Jordan Legion), our sometime friend, refused to give orders to shoot back at the Israelis on the borders. That's why he was sacked. He was more loyal to the British than to us."

"The West has never been interested in us, only in oil and markets and in the political pressures of Zionists. It was this combination that was against us when we fought the Zionists for the Holy Land of Palestine." Again he shifted gears and anticipated my question.

"Many people say we did not fight hard enough, that we ran away. If Americans invaded Canada and surrounded Toronto and you had no arms to defend yourselves, you'd run too, to save your lives. We remembered Dir Yassin, where the Zionists killed every Arab man, woman and child. With no weapons in our hands, of course we ran."

"But now we're not afraid of the imperialists or the Jews or Zionism any more. Why?"

Because today the world market for arms is open to us. His face broke out in a confident smile.

"Until 1955, the West gave us a dribble of arms—to keep internal order, they said. Then Nasser broke the ice and imported weapons from Czechoslovakia."

"Now we can have arms either from the West or the East. The West is generous at last because it does not want us to turn to the East."

"We are not afraid any more because we have the wherewithal to attack. This is what gives Arab youth confidence. Who you see in Egypt, Syria, Iraq and Yemen is the swiftness of Arab young people."

He's not all Nasser's doing. He's the spark, but we are the willing timber. The voice assumed a meeting hall quality.

"And the flame will soon encompass the whole of the Arab world, including Jordan. You will see a union of Arab peoples, each with its own government connected in a federal framework. This will come about through history."

"Give us 10 years and through Arab union and strength Israel will dissolve and the Jews will either be integrated or slaughtered." The voice suddenly lost its platform timbre; it dropped almost to a whisper.

"This doesn't sound humanitarian, but in terms of politics there's no such thing as humanitarianism. It's the law of the jungle unfortunately. We hate it, but we have to have our national home. The only solution for Palestine is dissolution of Israel."

"We will never trust the Zionists. We will never trust the West, because their sympathies and policies are the same."

Farhi Obeid's bitterness and confidence have grown in the 15 years since the Arab-Israeli war. There are others like him in Jordan and in other Arab lands. The pro-Nasser demonstrations in Jordan prove there are.

If he and the others are the future Arab leaders, what chance is there for Middle East peace in our lifetime?

The world's first adhesive postage stamp, the "penny black" went on sale in England 123 years ago today—in 1840.

The "penny black" and a two-penny blue stamp—both bearing the portrait of Queen Victoria—were an immediate success and the printers worked night and day to keep supplies available. The use of stamps spread and in 1843 Brazil became the second government to issue them.

1885—Ottawa got its first electric street lights.

1933—Ethiopian Emperor Haile Selassie fled Addis Ababa in the face of the Italian aggression.

Arts Council

Cautious Approach

By GODFREY HODGSON
from Washington

PRESIDENT Kennedy is expected within a month at the latest to appoint by executive fiat something that Congress has long refused to approve: a national advisory council on the arts. The chairman is expected to be the president's special consultant on the arts, Mr. August Heckacher, the first White House staff official in history to have arts as his responsibility.

Because of the views taken here of the proper limits of government, especially of federal government, and, most of all, of the president's executive powers, America's arts council will have a restricted function. It will not subsidize opera, theatre, ballet or music. There is a bill before Congress, however, with powerful sponsors in the Senate but little support in the more provincial and philistine House of Representatives which would set up a national art foundation, with power to make matching grants from the federal treasury to orchestras and theatres as is already done by some states—notably New York and California.

Mr. Heckacher has sketched out a probable field of action of the council. It would try to improve the design of anything the federal government is responsible for—from stamps to buildings. It would stand up for the arts where they are affected by federal action—taking a look at the tax laws insofar as they affect the writer, for example, or at copyright. Thirdly, it would, in Heckacher's words, "identify the needs and possibilities of cultural life as a whole."

The contribution in the first two fields could be considerable. The Kennedy administration has already committed itself to improving the standard of federal architecture—which affects hundreds of major buildings from embassies abroad to corner post offices. But Heckacher's main interest is likely to be in the more general side of the council's work.

He is interested, not only in the creative or performing artist and his work, but in culture in its vaguer sense, in the quality of life, leisure and the environment of people in general.

He has written in the vain of a cultural J. K. Galbraith about privacy and the home and the decline of public culture in the United States. Heckacher is firmly convinced that the government has a role to play in the arts. But his estimate of its proper role would seem modest.

He cautiously endorses, for example, the idea that "the government can act in the field of culture without harming what it seeks to save." But he tempers this by saying that the "government should do very little compared to individual genius or private support."

The whole idea of a federal arts adviser seemed funny to Americans when Heckacher's post was created early last year. The fact that few noticed it when the president appointed Heckacher, who is not only a Republican but an ex-Adlai Stevenson supporter, shows how far out of the main stream of Washington such goings-on are thought to be. To many Congressmen from between the Potomac and Sierra Nevada, federal interest in the arts is as incongruous as an issue of escaudrogue to the marines.

Insecticides

Purchasing some insecticide of extreme toxic content, I noticed the word POISON was not printed on any part of the container.

Instructions on the package generally assure the purchaser of insecticides that if the contents are used as directed no harm will result. The fact seems to be ignored that the human species have different degrees of tolerance.

The writer, who has for long used insecticides on edible and other plants, regards the recent assurances to the public by our provincial Department of Agriculture that no further controls are needed regarding insecticides as a blunder. These pesticides are, in some instances, derivatives

Sadly Lacking

Having reference to your article of April 21 which stated that at a ratepayers' meeting held at Cobble Hill, I had advocated that Vancouver Island should become a province on its own; such information is altogether inaccurate.

I am thoroughly aware that there can be misunderstandings and misinterpretations, and I am willing to concede that that was what happened in this case.

Now sir, as far as I am concerned our function as a ratepayers' association is, and will be altogether honorable and sincere in a continuing effort to obtain better and more appropriate treatment from our provincial government in the matter of a general development of the whole island; which causal observation will convince anyone, has been sadly lacking for quite a number of years past.

Day at the Music Festival

They Huffed and Puffed To Bring House Down

By BERT BINNY

Dancers danced, fiddlers fiddled, bands played and trumpeters puffed resolutely at the Greater Victoria music festival all day Tuesday.

In many instances, they did all these things with large success. There were, for instance, scores of 95, 93 and quite a few 91s appearing among violinists, dance classes and school instrumentalists. Instrumentalists on brass found the going a trifle tougher but still achieved marks of 89 and 88. Violinist Vivienne Abbott won the Musical Art Society bursary of $50 for the highest score in the string classes, 143 to 150.

Well up in the competition for the bursary were Trudie Conrad with a p in 90s, Darien Hunt and Victor Palmer, also each with 90.

IN DANCING

A 90 also was secured in the dancing competitions by Oak Bay Junior High School and the Wynne Shaw dance studio.

The same studio, along with the Vivian Briggs school of dance, Uplands, Victoria West and Margaret Jenkins schools all scored creditable 88s.

The Oak Bay junior success won by an all-girl team, was for a creative dance and the Wynne Shaw studio's for a folk dance.

COLLECTED 93

Among the elementary school instrumental groups, Doncaster school collected 93 and both McKenzie Avenue and Grade 2 from St. Margaret's had 90s.

The brass quartet of B. Marion, D. Toole, R. Sunderland and J. Gayler led a field of six with 89 points and the Mount View High school brass ensemble won their class with a fine 88.

The evening session was occupied by senior school orchestras and bands.

Brass and woodwind classes continue today and, in the evening, there will be a dance display in Central Junior High school auditorium at 7 p.m. This will involve outstanding performances selected by adjudicator Peggy McFarlane.

The evening program opened with Rimsky-Korsakov's Scheherazade played by the Greater Victoria Schools Symphony orchestra.

That this composition should have even been attempted left adjudicator Dr. F. L. D'Andrea "aghast" but the orchestra received the highest possible grading, that of "superior."

Of the five senior high school bands competing, three—Belmont, Mount Douglas and Oak Bay—were graded "excellent" and two—Victoria High and Mount View—received the highest grade of "superior."

Both the orchestra and the Victoria High band were invited to appear at the schools honor performance Friday evening.

Sugar Price Rises Again

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 32nd increase in the price of sugar since mid-September of last year was announced Tuesday.

The 25-cent rise increased refined sugar here to $12.95 a 100-pound bag, highest in about 13 years. A continuing world shortage was blamed.

25¢ BOOST

To the owner of an average home estimated in Oak Bay at $13,600 this would represent a tax increase of more than $20 and would gobble up the increase in the homeowner's grant.

Reeve Murdoch said the estimates committee had cut $105,000 from the budget but necessary public works projects such as surface drain and sewer improvements, which with cost about $17,000 had to be tacked back on.

Salary adjustments accounted for another $19,000, and library and recreation costs are up.

"Each time a public works project is put off, the price to do the job the next year increases," the Reeve said.

He said the estimates committee had considered taking money out of the public works reserve fund but the municipality would lose on the transaction.

if they are cashed before maturity we would lose money."

Final meeting of the estimates committee Monday recommended a budget of more than $1,900,000, a total of $175,506 more than last year.

"The fund is in bonds and if they are cashed before maturity we would lose money."

Final meeting of the estimates committee Monday recommended a budget of more than $1,900,000, a total of $175,506 more than last year.

Reeve Murdoch said the estimates committee had cut $105,000 from the budget but necessary public works projects such as surface drain and sewer improvements, which with cost about $17,000 had to be tacked back on.

Salary adjustments accounted for another $19,000, and library and recreation costs are up.

"Each time a public works project is put off, the price to do the job the next year increases," the Reeve said.

He said the estimates committee had considered taking money out of the public works reserve fund but the municipality would lose on the transaction.

Ranch at Rainbow End?

If there's a pot of gold at the end of the rainbow, Peter Kelch, it will go to buy a ranch for orphaned children from all over the world.

"It's all a gamble, but if I make any hit records, we are on our way," he said Tuesday. Peter, 21, is writing and recording his own songs.

He was recording for the Capitol label but recently broke away to record under his own label, Chalice.

WHY NOT?

"That's the cup of Christ," he explained. "Why not? The children's ranch will be in His name."

"After the war in Europe I saw a lot of them, just wandering about the continent, homeless."

Peter's latest record, and one to which he is pinning his hopes, is Lonely Wanderer. Backing Lonely Wanderer is Little Clown.

Peter wrote both in Victoria before he left last year for Hollywood. Born in Germany, Peter came to Victoria in 1960.

His next record, out soon, is Johnny Take Care and A Little More Imagination.

And he has high hopes another one of his songs will be picked as the theme music for a new television series, Little Hobo.

Right now he is aiming his songs straight at the lucrative teen-age market.

One of Peter's Hollywood fans is Jayne Mansfield who cried "He's the greatest" after former husband Mickey Hargitay brought him home one day.

Peter is a talented dancer and financed part of his time at Victoria University by professional entertaining.

He has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Egon Kelch, at 1044 Burdett Avenue.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Education Minister Peterson announced Tuesday the government will increase the number of scholarships awarded to university students achieving second-class honors to 2,500 from 1,000, "in view of the steadily increasing number of students proceeding with higher education."

Millions for Education

VANCOUVER (CP)—The federal government is preparing a $10,000,000-a-year support program for higher education in Canada, Northern Affairs Minister Laing disclosed Tuesday.

The minister said that, under the plan, 10,000 scholarships of $1,000 each will be offered each year to students across the country.

He said this first major move by a federal government into the education field is aimed at reducing future unemployment by educating and training future generations for the age of automation.

Mr. Laing said details, such as how the money would be divided among the 10 provinces, have yet to be worked out and the provinces have yet to be consulted on the plan.

He said the new federal plan would "mean more young Canadians can enter university to be educated for the more technical and higher-type jobs modern technology and automation have opened up."

Careful! Survival In the Mail

Householders who make a habit of throwing away all advertising pamphlets in the mail should take care this week—they might throw away their chance of survival in a nuclear war.

A three-color road map, together with general instructions on evacuation of Greater Victoria, will be mailed out, likely within a few days, Greater Victoria target area co-ordinator James Somerville said last night.

18-MONTH JOB

The pamphlet took civil defence authorities some 18 months—the time needed to prepare a master plan for possible evacuation.

The map charts the areas to which citizens may disperse in event of an impending emergency. It allows for 150 cars an hour—carrying 750 people—and travelling at 20 miles an hour on each major route out of the area.

OTHER EMERGENCIES

The pamphlet to be distributed to citizens also includes instructions covering other emergencies—fire, flood and earthquake.

More detailed instructions are being sent to municipal authorities for study.

Local Play Full Of Laughs

By BERT BINNY

For an evening of laughs, try the St. Matthias Little Theatre production of Travelers' Joy which opened at the Parish Hall last night.

Last night—the first night—the play was a bit slow off the mark but, once in their stride, the players blotted out any memory of past weaknesses.

The cast, directed by Jo Pepper, does a fine job with a special pat on the back for Jennifer and Frank Allen, Berna Petersen, Jenny Chaster, Ken Bostock and Stanley Bowles.

Spiked Drinks Kill 19 in Spain

MADRID (Reuters)—Health officials reported 19 deaths and three cases of blindness among Spaniards who drank liquors and wines containing methylated spirits.

An official announcement said investigation showed liquors, wines and vinegar produced by some Galician firms contained methylated spirits. Poisoned shipments were seized.

Louisville Track Muddy

Nine to Start in Kentucky Derby

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A field of nine is shaping up for Saturday's Kentucky Derby with T. D. Buhl's Lemon Twist and Bar Al Mar Stable's Devil. It is declared out of the 89th running of the classic.

Trainer Pete Keiser said Tuesday Lemon Twist will pass up the derby in favor of the $25,000-added Illinois Derby a week from Saturday. Keiser said Buhl does not want to take a chance on hurrying the colt in the 1 1/4-mile run at Churchill Downs.

"We thought up until Monday that he would go," Keiser said. "But what's the use of going for fourth money when we can probably win the Illinois Derby."

G. T. Abernethy, trainer of Devil, said the colt has not fully recovered from an injury he received in his fifth-place finish last week in the Blue Grass Stakes at Keeneland. Devil, it is also said, will ship to Chicago and will try to be ready for the Illinois Derby.

Darby Dan Farm's Chateaugay worked a mile in one minute 47 seconds in the mud Tuesday while trainer Jimmy Conway watched.

Rex Ellsworth's favored Candy Spots is scheduled to work out Thursday. The other member of the big three, Green Tree Stable's No Robbery, had his final workout Monday.

The track was deep and muddy for Tuesday's Derby trial stakes. It has been raining in Louisville two days but the weather bureau says the rain will stop today and it will warm up by Saturday.

In other Derby news John Jacobs, trainer of Patrice Jacobs' Bonjour, said Ismael Valenzuela definitely will be on the colt in the Derby.

Other expected starters in the Derby are Ambush Stable's On My Honor, Walnut Hill Farm's Gray Pet, B. J. Rider's Royal Tower and Mrs. Leslie Fenton's Rajah Noor.

Willie Shoemaker was in the irons as Bonjour won the Derby Trial Tuesday. Gray Pet was second and On My Honor third.

Hula Dancer Hot Favorite

LONDON (CP) — The first two of Britain's five classic races will be run this week.

One looks fairly wide open; the other looks open and shut.

The race with the cut-and-dried appearance is the 1,000 Guineas, to be run Thursday over one mile at Newmarket.

This is exclusively for fillies and the overwhelming favorite is the French-trained Hula Dancer, a daughter of Native

Dancer that has the experts in ecstasy.

Unbeaten three times last year and successful in her only start this year in muddy going, Hula Dancer has so outdistanced all rivals that hardly any other steed gets a look in.

though the English-owned Top of the Milk can go some when in the mood.

Hula Dancer, owned by America's Mrs. Gertie Widener, won the top two-year-old race in France last year by a wide margin, provoking some sober critics to say in print that she may be one of the greatest fillies of all time.

An American owner, Danny Van Cleaf, also is considered to hold the key to the 2,000 Guineas, run at Newmarket Wednesday. Van Cleaf owns the speedy colt Crocket, which like Hula Dancer has yet to be beaten.

Crocket has already carved out a tiny slice of turf history. So brilliant was its record that 22 moneyed people have formed a syndicate to share the colt's breeding rights. This is probably the first time that a syndicate's net has been cast so widely so early in a horse's life.

Van Cleaf, a farmer from Virginia, has sold 19 full shares and two half shares at $5,000 ($15,000) a go, retaining one share for himself.

Man, 77, Fights Knifer

An elderly man was treated in Royal Jubilee Hospital early yesterday, then released, after he had been attacked by an unknown youth wielding a knife.

George Watt, 77, his hands covered with blood, told police a young man had come into his unlocked room at 714 Discovery and threatened him with his own butcher knife.

In defending himself, he suffered deep cuts to his right hand and minor cuts to his left hand.

The assailant was described as short with dark bushy hair and very dark skin.

Bail Revoked

Glen Lake Man Charged

A man charged with possession of stolen goods following Saturday's RCMP raid on a Glen Lake Road home had his bail revoked Tuesday and now is in custody.

Adrian Roy, about 30, appeared in Colwood magistrate's court charged with possession of a stolen tape recorder. Other charges are pending.

REMAND GRANTED

Roy asked for a week's remand without plea or election. Magistrate A. I. Thomas granted the request but revoked his bail.

RCMP Cpl. Robert Rogers announced a further $1,000 worth of stolen property has been recovered. This brings to $6,000 the value of stolen items recovered.

RING UNCOVERED

Goods worth $5,000 were seized at the Glen Lake home last Saturday. RCMP believe they have uncovered a theft ring and the "fence" responsible for disposing of loot.

Cpl. Rogers said the RCMP had a number of articles as yet unidentified.

PUBLIC HELP ASKED

"Anyone who has had their property broken into and could identify goods stolen from them would aid us by coming forward," he said.

He also urged anyone who suspects they are in possession of loot from recent robberies to notify RCMP.

NO CHARGES

"If they turn over the property now," he said, no charges will be laid against them. It could save embarrassment later on."

The stolen articles are at the Saanich police station.

Trial Ruled For Two

Two men charged with breaking and entering in connection with the disappearance of 900 pounds of scrap metal from a vacant property on Dallas Road were committed for trial in city magistrate's court Tuesday.

George Rowman, 136 Onard, and Albert Lamb, 2813 Leigh, pleaded not guilty to two counts of breaking and entering and theft at 138 Dallas.

They were both discharged on the first count specifying a dwelling house but were committed for trial on the second, involving a shed.

Charm Defies Words

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

Yesterday, while I was trying to describe the Star of the Veldt—our third Colonist Free Seed offer for 1963—I found myself decidedly irked by the limitations of the English language. I just cannot find the words to describe the singular charm of these exquisite African daisies.

To call it a daisy is to belittle the flower, for the pointed petals give it an elegance and a refinement not ordinarily found in members of the daisy family. Listing the colors of the flowers doesn't help much either, for when I tell you they come in lemon yellow, burnt orange, apricot, mauve or salmon, I am not conveying the singular radiance of these colors—they look as if they would glow in the dark.

Nor are they all solid colors. In these natural hybrids, it is quite a common thing to run across the flowers which combine two or more colors—a combination of silvery pink and mauve, for instance, or a deep orange with a dark blue band near the eye, or blending to a pale yellow at the petal tips.

The flower stems are straight and about 12 inches long, grand for bouquets and arrangements; the pastel shades and whites are wonderful in a low bowl of delit blue, orange, yellow and biscuit shades in a burnished copper container.

For garden decoration, Star of the Veldt would be a happy choice for a window box or planter on the sunny side of the house.

One problem with such planters is to find a flower which will bloom all summer long without interruption, for so many of our annuals give one brief burst of color, then pack up and quit for the year.

These African hybrids are persistent and untiring bloomers; moreover, the sun and heat of a south or west-facing aspect holds no terrors for these dwellers of the veldt.

These are useful subjects, too, for massing in smallish or narrow beds where a taller plant would look out of proportion. Standing about a foot tall and planted nine inches apart each way, these Dimorphothecas will cover themselves with bloom to such an extent that you can hardly see the foliage for the flowers. They make a pretty border, too, for larger beds of taller flowers.

In starting your seeds, I suggest you make a little seed bed in some sunny corner of the garden and grow them, until they are about three inches high, then transplant them to their flowering position.

Unlike the Mission Bells poppies of our second free seed offer, Star of the Veldt is quite easy to transplant successfully. By starting them off by themselves, you should have lots of plants ready by the time the tulips in the front beds finish blooming or the wallflowers are ready to come out.

To make your seed bed, dig over a few square yards of plot, incorporating a little peat moss if you have some handy. Break down the lumps with the rake, then walk all over it to consolidate the soil. Rake again shallowly, make your seed furrows not more than half an inch deep and four inches apart, and space out your seeds three inches apart.

It helps, I think, to pour a little water in the furrows before sowing the seeds. Cover shallowly with fine soil.

While not strictly necessary, I like to cover my sown seed beds with bottomless seed flats covered with plastic film. Not that these seeds need protection from the weather—these are husky little critters—but by covering them in this way, soil moisture is conserved and I don't have to water the bed until after the seedlings come up. As I have mentioned before, I have a strong dislike for pouring water on a bed containing ungerminated seeds.

JOHN CROSBY Watches Genial Gamblers

They Laugh as They Lose

London Captures The Chemmy Crowd

LONDON — Gambling is legal in England. London is studded with little bookie shops where the charwomen place their small bets and every night the big table at London's centuries-old gaming club of Crookford's is jammed with players, playing the limit, £200 (£500) on every card from 10 p.m. when the game starts until 9 or 10 a.m. when it breaks up.

I was in Crookford's the other night during one of their games, a once-a-month soiree where profits go to charity. Evening dress is required that night and it's a little more crowded than usual.

It's a marvellous old house overlooking Admiralty Arch on the Carlton House terrace and the scene inside somehow reminded me of the sort of illustrations Charles Dana Gibson painted around 1905. The high-ceilinged room. The women in low-cut dresses. The dinner jackets. The liveried servants passing drinks. The slightly faded splendor.

But it went deeper than outer appearance. There's an air of geniality about English gambling that is peculiarly its own. The nine players at the big table, all regulars, make jokes, taunt each other, frequently bellow with laughter to the point where a croupier has to smother them.

I don't suppose the English really lose any more than anyone else, but the code demands that they appear not to mind. There's less tension and little of that tight-lipped sweaty concentration you find at Monte Carlo or Cannes.

Still, many of them are the same players. Bill Meaden, one of the directors at Crookford's, told me there are only 2,000 chemin de fer players in the world and all the casinos must share them. If they're in Crookford's then obviously they can't be in Le Touquet or Biarritz or Monte Carlo.

The passing of the Gaming Act of 1961, which made operation of a gambling casino legal in England, has done great damage to the continental casinos by draining off large numbers of the small supply of regular chemmy players.

Crookford's now claims to be the biggest chemin de fer parlor in the world. An estimated £25,000,000 (£70,000,000) a year is bet at its five tables. It's hard to know precisely because Crookford's, unlike the continental casinos, doesn't take a percentage. The law won't permit it.

Crookford's charges only a seat charge, £10 for a seat for each shoe which lasts roughly half an hour. The big table takes in £180 an hour (£340) and as much as $6,300 a night, which isn't bad. The smaller tables charge only two and three pounds per half hour.

I have seen much bigger betting at Monte Carlo or Cannes than at Crookford's. "We don't have big winners or big losers," a Crookford's man told me. "But we have steadier players. Play goes on here 365 days a year. At Monte Carlo it's seasonal, most of it concentrated in one month."

Then he added a line which I found pretty funny. "A player can lose £20,000 in three weeks at Monte Carlo. Here that money has to last him all year — so he's more careful."

Crookford's is the best place in London to get a fine meal for very little since the tables subsidize the food. Crookford's loses 10 shillings on every meal.

Supreme in Their Day

AT THE GALLERY

By INA D. D. UTHOFF

The recent gift from Arthur S. Wylie of two Samuel Palmer watercolors and the highly-regarded Snowdon from Betty-Cox by David Cox will be of special interest to those who are familiar with British watercolor painting of the early 19th century.

Palmer the mystic, Cox the realist—both were supreme in their day and their work is keenly sought after by art galleries, museums and private collectors all over the world.

It was the wish of the late Mrs. Hillegarde Wylie, who devoted herself to enthusiastically to the establishment of our art gallery and who gave so generously that the paintings would eventually become part of our permanent collection.

They had been in the possession of her family for more than 100 years. It was her grandfather, the late George Richmond, royal academician, who sponsored Samuel Palmer when he was still unknown and practically destitute and started him on his road to fame.

The outcome of the exhibition 3,000 Years of Chinese Art has been the enrichment of our permanent collection by many gifts of rare and interesting pieces. Of the Sung dynasty, a Chien ware tea bowl in "hare's fur" glaze has been presented by Mrs. John Chapman. This was given to her by Mr. J. M. Plummer the discoverer of the site of the kiln.

Amongst the discarded shards of many firings of pottery the perfect bowl was found. It may date back to as early as 980 AD.

A tomb statuette of the Tang dynasty comes from Mr. G. M. Hummel and a mandarin child's coat and jacket have been given by Mrs. M. I. Newton.

Acquired through the women's committee cultural fund and partially donated by Mr. A. E. Newberry is the handsome handscroll Mountains, Rivers and Travellers, also a Lung Chuan celadon bowl of the Ming dynasty.

Tom Thomson's sketches are hard to come by nowadays. This most brilliant member of the Group of Seven, who drowned in 1917 when alone in his canoe in his beloved Ontario northland, has left behind him only too few of his vivid, on-the-spot sketches, so we are particularly indebted to Robert A. Laidlaw of Toronto for his gift of Autumn, Algonquin Park.

From the collection of the Princess Chikmatsoff comes a delightful falience of historical interest. It was formerly in the collection of the famous 19th century English actress, Lily Langtry.

An unusually large woodcut by Lionel Feininger, Spazier-ganger, has been added to the Pollard collection, also one by Japan's contemporary graphic artist Tomio Kinoshita.

A large and unusually fine 18th century Imari ware plate has been added to the collection of ceramics and Mrs. Pollard has sent, on permanent loan, the Yung Cheng bowl and the Sung, Ming and Ching Jades which were lent by her for our 3,000 Years of Chinese Art exhibition.

There is also an 18th century carved and gilded Buddhist shrine and a bronze Kannon, dating from about 1800 AD in this group of Japanese loans.

Other gifts are two argillite carvings from Juge M. L. Tyrwhitt-Drake, some decorative carvings attributed to the English sculptor, Grigglan Gibbons (1648-1721) and from Professor Boyer Gonzales of the University of Washington, color woodcuts by the contemporary Americans, Carol Summers and D. E. Alexander.

Mrs. Isobel Hobbs of Cordova Bay has presented a portrait in watercolor of Emily Carr which she painted shortly before the death of the famous artist.

Natalie Takes Log Off Fire

By SHEILAH GRAHAM

Natalie Wood took another log off the fire when she heard about Warren Beatty's dates with Jean Seberg. And the same can be said for author Bernada Gary who loves her, in France, Warren and Jean are paired in Lillith, which incidentally is the name of the first temptress.

Marion Dones put mother love before her love for Robert Wagner. That is why she is remaining behind in Hollywood, while R.J. returns to Europe. Marion's ex-husband, Stanley Dones wants to get the custody of their two children. And, I am told, is prepared to cite her association with Wagner as the reason for having the children. So Marion is keeping them with her in Hollywood, far from the British courts. If you remember, Deborah Kerr lost the custody of her daughters when Tony Barley had them made wards of the British court.

Navy Team Fails To Locate Bodies

PENTICTON (CP)—Sound detection gear used by a team of navy divers from Esquimalt has failed to locate six unrecovered bodies from the eight-dead collision of two private planes last Saturday.

Only two bodies have been recovered from Skaha Lake into which both planes plunged following the crash. Neither body has been identified.

The divers, using sonar equipment, spent Tuesday scouring the area where a twin-engine Aero Commander with seven persons aboard entered the water.

The only major aircraft parts recovered so far are two forward sections of engines found near where it is thought the Aero Commander crashed.

Victims included both pilots, a Penticton youth and five members of a Penticton family.

Elk-Beaver Lake

Victoria's Price Not Realistic Says Saanich Pair

Victoria's idea that its Elk-Beaver Lake property is worth $3,272,000 is not realistic, two Saanich councillors suggested last night.

Mayor R. B. Wilson said Monday the city is prepared to start negotiations at that value for sale of the 700-acre property which lies in Saanich.

"We are not interested in what the city could get for the property for residential sites," said Coun. Leslie Passmore, chairman of the Saanich parks and recreation committee.

FOR USE OF ALL

"We asked what they are prepared to sell it to Saanich for, provided we dedicated it as park for use of all Greater Victoria residents."

Coun. Joseph Casey, chairman of the Saanich finance committee, wanted to know

Britons Hit By New Disorder

EASTBOURNE, England (AP)—A newly discovered nervous disorder afflicts nearly a third of Britain's population, a prominent doctor reported Tuesday. He suggested better homes and living conditions as a cure.

Lord Taylor, physician and Labor peer, told the Royal Society of Health a recent survey disclosed nearly one Briton in three has "subclinical neurosis." Symptoms are mild depression, irritability, excessive nervousness and some insomnia.

Manitoba Moves to Save Gold Mine

WINNIPEG (CP)—The Manitoba legislature gave speedy second reading Tuesday to a bill authorizing a $240,000 emergency loan to San Antonio Gold Mines.

Members voted 51-0 in favor of approval in principle.

The bill now goes to the legislature's law amendments committee for further examination.

The committee was to meet Tuesday night.

Premier Duff Roblin introduced the bill Monday saying the mine operation at Bissett, Man., would fortify help was not forthcoming.

The 1,300-member community 110 miles northeast of Winnipeg is almost totally dependent on the mine which employs 225 people earning $300,000 a year.

Mr. Roblin said the mine is in financial trouble because some previous directors "disbursed $165,000 or more" of San Antonio cash which should have gone towards development and exploration.

The Progressive Conservative leader said the mine does not lack ore and has produced $42,000,000 in gold in the last 31 years.

He said the mine ran into difficulty when a Montreal man, Max Isaacs, gained control by buying shares on margin.

Under Mr. Isaacs, the money disappeared. Mr. Isaacs was unable to meet payments due for the stock he bought on margin and he too disappeared. Montreal and Toronto stockbrokers gained involuntary control.

The loan would be made over a two-year period starting next month and is repayable in May, 1968. Interest is six per cent compounded annually.

Terms also apply several restrictions to the operation of the company including non-payment of directors' fees.

Corner Drug Store Trash Escape Valve

MONTREAL (CP)—R. E. Barker, secretary of the British Publishers' Association, said

Tuesday it's a good thing that semi-pornographic trash is sold openly at such places as the corner drug store.

"This serves as a release for certain people who need such a release and it's less harmful than other forms," he said.

If such literature wasn't available there would soon be a flourishing black market in pornographic material.

$3,000 for Extra Park Patrol

City council yesterday took quick and decisive action to meet the threat of molesters in Beacon Hill Park.

If agreed unanimously to spend an additional $3,000 to put another commissioner on duty in the park during daylight hours for the next few months and also approved purchase of a walkie-talkie radio for $1,000.

Ald. Millard Mooney, chairman of the special committee appointed to discuss the matter with the police commission, raised the question at yesterday's budget session.

He said the purchase of the portable radio transmitter-receiver was a matter of considerable urgency.

"We can't wait even a couple of days until the end of the budget session," Ald. Mooney said. "This is an emergency. We must get the order in at once."

The question of additional surveillance in the park by commissioners came up later in the morning and it was at the insistence of Ald. Lily Wilson that council agreed to approve the additional sum.

There was some bargaining among aldermen as to the exact amount needed for the extra manpower, but Mayor R. B. Wilson urged council "to do the thing properly" and approve the full $3,000 suggested by officials.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren reported that $3,690 was spent last year on commissioners to patrol Beacon Hill Park. He said the service was on weekends only during the winter and in the months of good weather from around noon until dusk.

The additional $3,000 will ensure two commissioners are on duty when the park is busy, council was told.

Ald. Mooney said the two-way radio link would enable the commissioner on duty to alert police when a suspicious character is spotted in the park or in the case of an actual molesting.

In either case police would be on the spot within minutes, he said. A plain clothes man would be placed in the park to shadow suspects. Routine police patrols of the park area have been doubled.

Three Musketeers Split Bingo Prize

The motto of the Three Musketeers—one for all and all for one—paid off for two or three bingo enthusiasts last night to the tune of a $3,000 car.

The car, major prize at the Kinsmen bingo in Memorial Arena, was won by Tom Hetherington, 3408 Vedernan. Before the bingo started he agreed with two companions they would share equally anything they won.

His lucky partners were Roy Waggoner, 2840 Quadra, and James Botham, 544 View Royal. None has a car.

They will likely sell their prize and split the proceeds. Next biggest prize of the night, $1,000, went to Werner Braun, Johnson Street.

Residents Ask City:

Rescind Zoning Order

Residents of the Fairfield-Chandler area who oppose establishment of a private hospital in their midst yesterday urged city council to rescind a zoning order recently granted to the developers.

Frank Crocker, 1786 Fairfield, spokesman for the dissenting residents, based his plea on the disclosure last Thursday that a further zoning change was necessary before the residential and recreational sections of the total scheme are implemented.

"We feel that this scheme has been sold to the members of city council and to the people of the surrounding area as a village concept rather than simply as a private hospital," Mr. Crocker said.

"If there is no recreation centre for elderly people... the whole basis upon which rezoning was granted becomes invalid," the residents' spokesman added.

VAGUE CLAIMS

Mr. Crocker said the brief outlining the scheme, which was presented to city hall and residents of the area, contains many claims which he termed "high-sounding" and "vague."

Any claims which the proposed development may have to becoming a "community asset," he added, are based on the addition of residential accommodation and recreation facilities.

ADDS TO LIST

A private hospital alone would simply add to the already lengthy list of 25 rest homes and private hospitals within a 1½-mile radius of the proposed site for the Glenarry development. The spokesman added the phone book shows only 16 other rest homes and private hospitals in the remainder of the city.

After hearing Mr. Crocker's submission and considering a letter from city solicitor T. P. O'Grady the zoning committee decided to recommend the following course of action:

● City council withhold formal approval of use of the rezoned property for private hospital until the 17½ acres have been consolidated into a single parcel.

● Seek co-operation of Health Minister Eric Martin, who has final say in approval of both site and plans for any private hospital, in exercising a "degree of practical control."

This would involve obtaining an assurance that city council would be advised of any substantial departure from the proposals put to council were contained in the final plans.

Gardens Open Tomorrow

Budget

Saanich Pares $40,000

Saanich finance committee pared nearly $40,000 from the 1963 draft budget last night and decided to ask council for a one-half mill reduction in both school districts.

It will bring some relief to hard-pressed taxpayers, dropping this year's mill rate increase in the heavily populated Saanich school district 61 from 5.26 to 4.8.

Total mill rates would drop from 47 to 46.5 in school district 61 and 48.42 to 47.92 in rural school district 63.

Reeve Stanley Murphy told committee during the meeting that "trying to reduce the mill rate to an acceptable figure with the object of impressing people is an impossible task. I personally am looking for something like 4.8."

Coun. Leslie Passmore said he was trying to bring the mill rate as low as he could without affecting the efficiency of municipal operation.

View Royal Meeting

View Royal Community Association will hold its first meeting of the year at 8 p.m. Thursday in the View Royal Community Hall. Problems of the community will be discussed.

City's Budget Axe Blunt

Start of final budget cutting at city hall yesterday made little impression on the provisional total of $10,871,543.

In fact, after the opening session lasting 2½ hours, city council sitting as the committee on estimates had lost ground, cutting items totalling $2,200 and adding $6,590.

Budget trimming sessions resume today at 9:30 a.m. with consideration of Victoria public library estimates, but axing is not expected to begin in earnest until Thursday when extraordinary spending items in all departments come up for review.

These special expenditures listed in the provisional budget total $673,734, an increase of $205,910 over the amount approved for this purpose last year.

Physical Exam

Archer Report Results In Police Fitness Plan

By IAN STREET

First implementation of the still-secret Archer report is a physical examination to determine whether all members of Victoria police department are able to carry out full duties of a police officer.

This was disclosed yesterday after the police commission reviewed an unstarred number of cases in which the medical examination showed officers were not up to the required standard.

Mayor R. B. Wilson, commission chairman, said following the closed-door session, that the men in question had been given 30 days in which to prove themselves capable of undertaking a full load of duties.

The number of cases and the identity of the officers involved in this preliminary stage of proceedings was not divulged by the commission.

NO COMMENT

Representatives of the police union who were present at yesterday's meeting declined comment.

A policy of regular annual physical examinations for all members of the force has been under consideration by the commission for some time.

It was established as policy after a similar recommendation was received in the report of former RCMP superintendent George Archer. The full report which is in the hands of the commission hasn't yet been made public.

EFFICIENCY CHECK

Mr. Archer was appointed to inquire into efficiency and future operation of the Victoria force by the attorney-general's department, which was acting on a request from the police commission. The inquiry was extended to police forces in the surrounding area.

Some of the members of the Victoria force must still undergo their initial medical examination under the new policy.

In the cases where unfitness to carry out full police duties is established the officers will be retired from the force. All are covered by a pension plan.

No Effluent

Sawmill Changes Dip Plan

Accidental poisoning of hundreds of fish in Cooper's Cove at Sooke over the weekend by discharge of an insecticide by Sooke Forest Products sawmill will not occur again.

The company is adopting a new method of handling the insecticide—used to kill insects in logs—and no effluent will be discharged into the sea, provincial fish and game branch biologist Ira Withler said last night.

INTO HUGE PIT

When the dip tanks are cleaned out in future the insecticide will be pumped into a huge pit lined with plastic. After seaweed and bark have settled to the bottom the liquid will be pumped back into the tanks and the sludge carted away.

TO CHECK OYSTERS

Meanwhile, the federal food and drugs department in Vancouver is making arrangements to obtain samples of oysters from an oyster lease adjacent to the area to see if they are tainted.

The insecticide was Permethrin 10S, containing 57 per cent Borax, 31.6 per cent sodium pentachlorophenate and 4.4 per cent sodium salts of other chlorophenols.

BAN ON SALE

A spokesman for the provincial health department said only one small oyster lease is involved and added that the leaseholder had voluntarily imposed a ban on sale of oysters from that area until cleared.

"Food and drug people will be collecting samples at the request of the farmer," he said. "These people have placed a quarantine on their own oysters and credit goes to them."

SEEDING LEASE

"It is the only place involved, just a small seeding lease." Most of the fish killed by the insecticide were perch but reports were received of dead sea-run cutthroat and some dead ducks.

Police Right on Spot For Complaint on Car

Saanich police gave quick action on a complaint of a suspicious-looking car early Tuesday. A prowler in a service station on Keating Cross Road.

"That's me," came the reply, "I'm changing a tire."

In Fair Condition

Woman Pedestrian Hit by Sports Car

An elderly woman pedestrian is in fair condition at Royal Jubilee Hospital following an accident at McRae and Shelbourne just after 1 p.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Catherine Sibbald, 86, of 3305 Wordsworth, was crossing Shelbourne when the accident occurred.

Police said she sustained lacerations and fractures.

The car involved in the accident was a sports car driven by a girl under the age of 18. Police did not release her name.

The sports car was travelling south on Shelbourne. Mrs. Sibbald was crossing Shelbourne in an easterly direction on the northern portion of the intersection.

Apparently she had crossed in front of a slow-moving vehicle which was travelling very close to the curb, and into the path of the sports car which was proceeding south in the lane of traffic next to the centre line.

The force of the accident deposited the pedestrian in the centre of the intersection on Shelbourne Street.

Two-Day Fete At Brentwood

Two days of festivities are planned at the weekend on the Tsaartlip Indian Reserve, Brentwood Bay.

Included in the many events to be held is a display of skydiving by the Victoria Sky Divers.

The six man team will be free falling from 7,000 feet for 30 seconds and from 3,500 feet for 10 seconds.

Other attractions during the two days will be the 11-man Indian war canoe races, salmon bake, Indian dancing, and in the evenings the older Indians will be playing the traditional bone game, La Hal.

Indians from all parts of Vancouver Island will be taking part in Saturday's field sports starting at 1 p.m.

All proceeds from the two-day festival will go to construction of an Indian youths' recreation centre on the reserve.

Festivities start each day at 1 p.m. and admission is 50 cents per person.

Two Boys Hit by Car

Two small boys suffered only bruises and abrasions Tuesday when they were struck by a car after walking out from behind a parked car near Government and Michigan.

Michael Stenden, 4, of 431 Government, and David Mackin, 5, of 428 Government, were crossing the street when a car driven by Jack M. Bloom, 630 Battery, struck them while proceeding north on Government.

The boys were kept in St. Joseph's Hospital overnight for observation.

Pacific Club To Buy Building

The Pacific Club, oldest private club on the West Coast, is planning to buy the B.C. Cement Company Building for a new club site.

Membership has pledged support for the $150,000 building development drive which opened Monday night.

Club president Jack Phillion told the Colonist yesterday a number of downtown buildings had been considered on either a purchase or lease basis before the decision was made to purchase the building on Wharf Street.

IT'S A NATURAL

"The building is a natural for conversion to a club," Mr. Phillion said. "The down payment for the building is on the way."

He said the new club would be the ultimate in men's private clubs. "We are going all out to make this the finest men's club on the coast."

The present Pacific Club was formed in 1885 and has been located atop the Yarrow Building, formerly the Pemberton Building, since 1910.

ADD THIRD FLOOR

Present plans call for reconstruction of the newer section of the building by adding a third storey. The rest of the property will be renovated.

The new building will afford members a view of the Inner Harbor.

"This will be the first step toward rejuvenating the old town area. We have received many letters congratulating us on the decision," Mr. Phillion said.

He said arrangements for membership parking were well in hand.

DICK EDGELL

Seen In Passing

Dick Edgell in his garden. (A retired trust company executive, he lives at 3230 Beach with his wife Beryl. A daughter, Susan, also lives in the city. His hobbies are fly-fishing and gardening.) FANFANI
... worst beating

Fanfani Regime At End?

ROME (AP)—Italy's unpredictable voters have handed Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democrat party its worst election beating. His left-leaning government is in jeopardy.

The Communists, picking up 1,000,000 votes over their showing in the 1958 election, won a quarter of the some 31,800,000 votes cast. They rank as the No. 2 party in Italian politics.

The Christian Democrats maintained their standing as Italy's No. 1 party, but with little consolation.

Their total seats dropped to 41 from 66 per cent in the Chamber of Deputies and to 42 from 50 per cent in the Senate.

SOCIALISTS IMPROVE

Among their partners in a coalition government that has experimentally swung this North Atlantic Treaty nation leftward, only the Democratic Socialists improved on their 1958 showing. The Republicans

Man's Body In Harbor

NANAIMO (CP)—The body of a man was found Tuesday night in a small boat in Nanaimo harbor.

Police said they believe death was due to a self-inflicted .22-caliber gunshot wound. Officers said the body was found by the victim's wife.

No names were released.

Enough U.S. Missiles

Kill! Kill! Kill!—1,250 Times

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbia University professor claims $22,000,000 can be clipped from the 1964 U.S. military budget which as drafted authorizes an outlay of $36,700,000,000.

Seymour Melman, a professor of industrial engineering at Columbia, with five other university faculty members and a professional economist, say they have sent details of their proposal to members of Congress and the executive department of the U.S. government.

A major point in Melman's argument is that the defence department has far more nuclear weapons than are needed to blast all potential targets.

Melman said the United States could "overkill" the Soviet Union by 1,250 times. He said the United States has about 3,400 strategic weapons — aircraft and missiles — with a stockpile of nuclear warheads twice the number deliverable by the weapons systems. Russia has about 140 cities of more than 100,000 population which would be overkilled 1,250 times if all warheads were used, even allowing for a 50-per-cent failure in delivery.

Melman also says Russian's nuclear arsenal is adequate for an overkill of U.S. targets by 145 times.

On military manpower strength, the United States and its allies muster 8,000,000 men against 7,000,000 for the Communist bloc, Melman believes.

What Melman and his associates propose is a "maintenance - of - present - forces" budget, with sharp reduction in procurement of weapons, a slash in research, developing and testing and other cuts to make the total reduction $22,000,000,000. He would cut the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's budget by two-thirds because "it makes no sense to continue plants and filling warehouses and caves with further nuclear warheads."

He would chop off entirely foreign military assistance from what he says is the administration budget proposal for $2,000,000,000.

Ben-Bella Solidifies Control

ALGHERS (UPI)—The Algerian government announced today the resignation of a third top official, leaving Premier Ahmed Ben-Bella in virtual one-man control of the country.

The announcement, which said Ben-Bella, provisionally assumed the minister's portfolio, meant he controls five of the top key government offices and in the ruling National Liberation Front.

Cuba Deal Charged

Dominicans Claim Haiti Link to Reds

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—The Dominican government charged Tuesday that President Francois Duvalier of Haiti had close ties with Communist nations and had offered a military base to Cuba.

The latest charge in Santo Domingo's blazing feud with neighboring Haiti was laid before an inter-American peace mission by Foreign Minister Andres Freites.

The mission arrived by plane from New York to head off a threatened military clash between the two neighbors, then flew on to Port au Prince.

Associated Press correspondent Morris Rosenberg in Port au Prince reported Duvalier's regime imposed censorship on outgoing news dispatches shortly after the team from the Organization of American States arrived.

Details of Freites' charges were not made public, but there were reports that Haiti had entered into some sort of arrangement with Communist Czechoslovakia.

UNAWARE OF DEAL

In Washington, U.S. state department press officer Lincoln White said he was unaware of an offer by Duvalier to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro nor did he know anything about reports of a deal between Czechoslovakia and Haiti. Haiti is only 50 miles from Cuba.

The mission, headed by OAS Council President Gonzalo Fajardo of Costa Rica, scheduled talks in Port au Prince with Duvalier and Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers to try to calm tempers and head off a conflict between the neighboring enemies on this Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

There was no indication when the resolution was considered.

"I am opposed to the death penalty as futile and barbaric," Melman said. "Those who would retain the death penalty nevertheless insist that its application deters the commission of crime."

"Why not test their theory?" he asked.

Atlantic Community

CLOSER TIES MIKE'S GOAL

PEARSON

Pearson To U.K.

TORONTO (UPI)—Prime Minister Pearson's air force Yukon aircraft took off for London early today for a round of top level talks with British Premier Macmillan. Pearson's plane was due in London at 7 a.m. PDT.

TORONTO (CP)—Prime Minister Pearson, about to head into separate talks with Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy, said Tuesday night that his life-long dream has been the creation of an Atlantic community joined indissolubly by spiritual, moral and economic bonds.

He told the annual dinner of The Canadian Press that such a community would be an important step toward world peace.

"It is my duty and my determination to protect and advance the interests of my country," he said. "It is also my duty—and my determination—to remember that, in doing this, Canada must work for peace and progress; and that this can only be done by cultivating the best possible relations with other nations."

MENTIONS FIRST GOAL

ATLANTIC COMMUNITY

"One of my most cherished dreams for a long time has been to see one day an Atlantic community linked by so many inalienable spiritual, moral, social and economic bonds that its common life will have a paramount influence, not only on the lives of its member peoples, but on the hopes of all peoples for peace and human brotherhood."

MORE CONFIDENCE

Mr. Pearson told the gathering that he believes there already is increased confidence in Canada among Canadians and also among other nations.

"If I am right, this tangible, though vital, result could be a very long step toward the solution to most of our problems. For without confidence little else matters. With it, and with hard work, with sound policies, and with wise action, we can move mountains."

PRIORITY LIST

Making his first public address since being sworn in Canada's 14th prime minister eight days ago, the Liberal leader told his audience of 460 that the restoration of confidence in Canadian affairs is the first item on his list of priority items to be tackled by the new government.

Mr. Pearson indicated that he has been disturbed by press attention to his campaign promise of "60 days of decision."

HAS CAUSED STIR

"It has caused quite a stir on Parliament Hill, especially in the press gallery," he told the gathering of publishers, editors and newspaper executives.

"Every day that goes by is ticked off as one day of action gone by. I have even been asked whether, Sundays count."

"I have been told that members of the press gallery are keeping a close check on each day's developments, keeping a detailed record for posterity. I suppose."

KEEPING ROX SCORE

"I understand they plan regular recapitulations — weekly, after 10 days, after 20 — with a full form sheet to be published after 30 days of 'hits, runs and errors,' especially errors."

Mr. Pearson said he is concerned that after 60 days there may be an idea that the government's job is done.

"This is not my intention," he said he is anxious to get started on the legislative program for the 26th Parliament which is to open Thursday, May 16.

VITAL ROLE

Mr. Pearson said the press of Canada has a vital role to play in meeting the challenges which face the nation. "So I invite your vigilance. I expect your criticism. I need your help and co-operation, not in a partisan way but in the difficult task it is now my honor, my privilege and my responsibility to carry out."

U.S. Staff Snubs Red Celebrations

MOSCOW (UPI)—A U.S. embassy spokesman said Ambassador Foy Kohler and the embassy staff are boycotting the Soviet May Day celebrations today in Red Square in which Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was starred.

It was the first such May Day boycott since the United States established relations with the Soviet Union in 1933. The spokesman declined to state the official reason for the boycott. However, it was understood to have been spurred by the presence of Castro.

ATTACKS U.S.

Disclosure of the U.S. boycott came as Defence Minister Malinovsky opened the May Day festivities.

Malinovsky accused the United States and its allies of "hatching reckless plans for triggering off a world thermonuclear war." He warned that the Soviet armed forces "are at constant battle readiness and are capable together with the armies of the Socialist countries of smashing any aggressor if he should dare to carry out an attack on our homeland and the fraternal Socialist countries."

CASTRO TO COUNTRY

Premier Khrushchev and Premier Castro took a break Tuesday in their private talks in the Kremlin and drove to Khrushchev's country home 30 miles outside Moscow for what the government newspaper Izvestia called another "lively conversation."

Billions Wasted

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbia University professor claims $22,000,000 can be clipped from the 1964 U.S. military budget which as drafted authorizes an outlay of $36,700,000,000.

Seymour Melman, a professor of industrial engineering at Columbia, with five other university faculty members and a professional economist, say they have sent details of their proposal to members of Congress and the executive department of the U.S. government.

U.S. Second to Cuba In Pan-Am Baseball

SAN PAULO, Brazil — The United States will be runaway winner in the Pan American Games, but as usual it won't win the gold medal in baseball—its own "national pastime."

That honor will go to Cuba, which will finish first even if it loses its last two games.

The Americans, who have won these Games, were knocked out of the running yesterday, losing 4-3 to Brazil on a wild pitch in the 10th inning. And if Mexico wins its last two Cuba for the silver medal, and Canada moved into good position to add to its medal collection in track and field today.

OUTDOORS with Alec Merriman

Provincial parks branch will spend $30,000 this year to develop a 40-unit campsite at Sprout Lake, across the road from the big picnic site and boat launching ramp.

The parks branch has obtained 50 acres from MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River and future plans call for a build-up of 75 camping units.

But, this is the only major park planned this year as park officials cut back on development work and concentrate on finishing off partially developed areas with water systems and other amenities.

Doing much of the work will be crews of senior school boys, employed by the forestry department each summer.

There will be a boys work crew at Long Beach finishing up the 90 units now available at Green Point. Another boys crew will continue work on Newcastle Island building more picnic sites and improving facilities at walk-in campsites.

No work is planned at Matheson Lake in the Rocky Point-East Sooke district, but that lake has now been opened for public fishing... walk along the railway tracks to get to it.

Buttleupen Campbell has again been left out of the campsite-picnic site program.

There is good news for north Island campers and fishermen.

On the drawing boards now is a continuous program for developing camping, picnicking and boat launching facilities at the myriad of lakes in the Sayward Forest area and adjacent to the Campbell Lakes.

One or two projects are planned each year.

This is a program first mooted in this column a couple of years ago and as suggested it is planned to have the work done by prison workers from the new Sayward prison camp.

Work for the parks branch hasn't been started yet, but work to improve access for forest fire protection is under way.

When we were in the area last weekend we saw evidence of clearing along the roads. Signs have been erected pointing the way to the various lakes.

Incidentally, a new sign on the Island Highway north of Nanaimo points the way to Boomerang, Cottle, Kidney, Round and Blackjack Lakes... then almost unknown lakes we wrote about a couple of years ago.

Anglers fishing Cowichan Bay this season will see new faces at two of the boathouses.

The fishing side of Ordano's Boathouse will be re-named Bay Shore Sports Fishing after May 1 and new operator will be Frederick Hagner.

Boat works side of the marina will be named Ordano's Marina Ltd. and will be managed by Harold Wrohan.

Pati Bros. Marina has changed hands and will be known as The Marina, with Gordon Price and Joan Maxwell as operators.

Champs' Night

Representing showing of Victoria youngsters in Canadian Junior badminton championships was recognition at reception in their honor last night at Victoria Racquet Club. Here president Andy Pitkethly poses with (left to right), Bill Chudyk, who reached singles quarter-finals; Wendy Williams, a singles semi-finalist; Alison Daysmith, singles champion; and Diana Godfrey and Alex Barlow, Canadian mixed doubles champs. Barlow was also men's doubles with Ed Peterson of Vancouver, who beat him in singles final.

Minor Baseball

both won their heats easily in the 800-metre run, qualifying for today's final.

William Gairdner of Thornhill, Ont., finished second in the point standing after completion of the first events of the decathlon.

Gairdner, who holds the Canadian decathlon record of 6,307 points, scored a total of 3,912 points yesterday in the 100-metre dash, broad jump, shot putt, high jump and 400 metres to stay within less than 100 points of Venezuela's Hector Thomas Martinez, who had 3,982.

Today the decathlon is completed with the 110-metre hurdles, discus, pole vault, javelin, and 1,500-metre race.

Heather Campbell and Yvonne Breeden of Vancouver were both eliminated in the heats of the 200-metre dash, finishing third.

The U.S. took four more gold medals yesterday to bring their total to 68, the most impressive coming in the 3,000-metre steeplechase.

Favored George Young of the U.S. had to withdraw at the last moment because of illness, but Jeffrey Plushack of San Jose State College pulled ahead of the field early and hung on at the finish for an upset victory.

Totems Take Lead; Defeat Seals Again

SAN FRANCISCO (CP) — Seattle Totems defeated San Francisco Seals 9-1 Tuesday night in the third game of the Western Hockey League final series.

The contest was marked from the opening whistle as a rout.

The Totems continued to play without apparent regard for the odds as they took a 2-1 lead in games in the best-of-seven series.

Fourth game is here to night.

Alternate Coast Link Not Yet Clarified

DUNCAN—Use of the alternate route from the Cowichan Valley to Port Renfrew via Harris Creek is still not settled for the general public.

So far only employees of B.C. Forest Products living at Port Renfrew may use the road but the general public cannot. Concerted efforts sparked by Port Renfrew residents and the IWA here began almost 11 months ago after they complained about the deplorable condition of the valley-coast link via Bear Creek.

The Harris Creek alternate route cuts the travelling time between Duncan and the West Coast by about half an hour and the main advantage is easier maintenance.

CAMPBELL RIVER—A blood donor clinic sponsored by the Red Cross chapter here will be held today from 2 to 5 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. in the high school auditorium.

NANAIMO—A tag day sponsored by the Canadian Legion to help finance local water safety patrols raised $335 in Nanaimo last Saturday. Next fund-raising project for the Water Safety Association will be a giant bingo.

DUNCAN—Following their dinner meeting tonight Duncan Kiwanians will tour the new B.C. Telephone office here under the guidance of local B.C. Telephone manager Skip Hawthornthwaite. Career Guidance night organizer Sam Keeble stated a number of students of the Cowichan Senior Secondary School would like to see that night established as an annual affair.

ALBERNI—A member of one of this district's early families, Benjamin Franklin Drinkwater, died at his Beaver Creek home Monday at the age of 83.

He came with his mother to Alberni in 1890 from his birthplace at Alford, Ont. His father and older members of the large family had arrived several months in advance to start building a home.

Ben never married and lived alone on his Beaver Creek farm for more than 50 years. Approximately two years ago his cabin burned to the ground.

Mr. Drinkwater fixed up a trailer for living quarters on property he owned on Bland Road and continued to keep house for himself and care for his dog, his constant companion for many years.

He is survived by his brother Alf in Alberni and many nieces and nephews.

Jack Troutman will officiate at the Jehovah's Witnesses ceremony in Kingdom Hall, Alberni, at 2 p.m. Thursday. Burial will be in Greenwood Cemetery.

GALIANO ISLAND—Dr. H. D. Barner has been re-elected to his third term as president of Galiano Golf and Country Club.

Mrs. Jean Pattison is secretary-treasurer, and executive members are Mrs. Douglas Graham, Mrs. M. E. Backlund, D. A. New, Victor Zala, W. D. Beach.

NANAIMO—RCMP are investigating a break-in at John Maraby School. The offices were ransacked Monday night but nothing stolen.

CHERMAINUS—Emil Joseph Dobrowolny, 34, pleaded guilty in police court to theft over $50 and possession of stolen goods and was remanded in custody for sentence until Thursday.

Police said he had stolen equipment from the Mount Sicker Logging Company March 15 amounting to $1,000, including two large truck tires, a chain saw, and a gas motor. He also was found in possession of stolen goods worth about $170 from MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Company Ltd.

PORT ALBERNI—This city's director of parks and recreation, Duncan Russell, will speak on Communications and Public Relations at the Friday night session of the B.C. Recreation Conference in Courtenay.

NANAIMO—When the Salvation Army's Vancouver Temple band marches through the streets of Nanaimo Saturday it will mark the opening of the Red Shield campaign and the 75th anniversary of the founding of the army.

The 47-piece band will hold a concert in the Quennell school auditorium 8 p.m. Saturday.

CHERMAINUS—Fines of $10 each for speeding were imposed in police court on Mrs. V. Crowe of Ladysmith, Ed-

Band Racing New Canoe

DUNCAN—The Cowichan Indian band will enter a brand new 11-man canoe, the Cowichan Queen, in the 74th Corpus Christi Sports Day canoe races on Quamichan Lake, Sunday, May 12.

The 50-foot dugout which was launched Sunday and which will be blessed by Catholic missionary Father Rosier next Sunday, was built by Rennie Wilson, Daniel George and Richard Tommy.

Other local canoes taking part are: Mount Prevost, Island Pride, and Thundercloud. About 18 entries are expected from North Vancouver, Nanaimo, Saanich, Kuper Island, Shell Beach and possibly from Washington state.

A spokesman of the Corpus Christi Sports Day committee said two strong contenders for this year's championship are North Vancouver's Marise Lejonis, 1961 international champion, and Prince Charles from Nanaimo, last year's international and B.C. champion.

Keen competition is expected for the Cowichan Challenge Trophy for the athlete winning the most contests. Last year and in 1961 it was won by Duncan boy Pat Gray. In 1959 and 1960 the holder was Richard Throne.

The three-year-old Marise Lejonis was built by Burrard Chief Dan George and will be manned by members of his family. Indian paddlers prefer the fresh water of Quamichan Lake to the salt chuck at Cowichan Bay where during the past several years the races were held. The competition was switched from the bay to the lake last year. Preceding the canoe races will be the field sports day on Saturday, May 11, at the old Cowichan Exhibition Grounds.

Besides the individual trophies the Bishop de Roo trophy will be presented for the first time to the best team of any band.

$3,000 for Extra Park Patrol

City council yesterday took quick and decisive action to meet the threat of molesters in Beacon Hill Park.

It agreed unanimously to spend an additional $3,000 to put another commissioner on duty in the park during daylight hours for the next few months and also approved purchase of a walkie-talkie radio for $1,000.

Ald. Millard Mooney, chairman of the special committee appointed to discuss the matter with the police commission, raised the question at yesterday's budget session.

He said the purchase of the portable radio transmitter-receiver was a matter of considerable urgency.

"We can't wait even a couple of days until the end of the budget session," Ald. Mooney said. "This is an emergency. We must get the order in at once."

The question of additional surveillance in the park by commissioners came up later in the morning and it was at the insistence of Ald. Lily Wilson that council agreed to approve the additional sum.

There was some bargaining among aldermen as to the exact amount needed for the extra manpower, but Mayor R. B. Wilson urged council "to do the thing properly" and approve the full $3,000 suggested by officials.

Parks administrator W. H. Warren reported that $3,690 was spent last year on commissioners to patrol Beacon Hill Park. He said the service was on weekends only during the winter and in the months of good weather from around noon until dusk.

The additional $3,000 will ensure two commissioners are on duty when the park is busy, council was told.

Ald. Mooney said the two-way radio link would enable the commissioner on duty to alert police when a suspicious character is spotted in the park or in the case of an actual molesting.

In either case police would be on the spot within minutes, he said. A plain clothes man would be placed in the park to shadow suspects. Routine police patrols of the park area have been doubled.

Freak Snowstorm Halts Island Logging

DUNCAN — Loggers were laid off from work Tuesday as a freak snowstorm dumped up to seven inches of fresh snow in the higher levels in the Meade Creek area. It is expected the workmen will return to their jobs shortly.

Cricket Club Rapped For Plan to Sell Out

DUNCAN — The Cowichan Cricket Club was rapped at Monday night's city council meeting for its intention to put the 7.5-acre playing field on Wharfedale Road on the open market May 6 for $22,000. Criticism followed a Duncan Kiwanis Club delegation's request for help to retain the grounds. The two spokesmen were Kiwanis president Bob Corney and Lindsay Loutet. Both the city and the Kiwanis Club have a primary interest in the land, as for some years they aided the cricket club by paying taxes.

Mr. Corney said chances are if the grounds are sold to a real estate firm that the playing field will become a subdivision and will be lost to the many sports groups and children living in the southeast portion of the city.

CLUB SWITCHES STAND

He told council as soon as the Kiwanis Club heard rumors of the cricket club's intention to sell, a letter was sent to the latter and the Kiwanians were assured they would have the first refusal.

In the meantime, Mr. Corney contended, the cricket club, in another letter, advised them the field would be put on the open market.

"It looks as if they refuse to deal with us," Mr. Loutet remarked.

PLAYGROUND

"We are definitely interested in preserving this area as a playground," said Mayor Jack Dobson. Ald. Hamish Mutter felt that as several types of sports such as grass hockey, rugby and soccer are being revived here, the field certainly should be saved. Mayor Dobson said, "It seems they don't care what happens to the grounds and present members don't realize the history of this playing field."

DISREGARD PUBLIC

First cricket activities on this particular field began 50 years ago and since then private individuals and groups have helped to keep the grounds. Ald. Mutter said: "They disregard the public entirely on this thing," and Mayor Dobson remarked the Kiwanis Club had received "a polite brush-off."

Mr. Loutet explained the present Cricket Club membership is largely composed of newcomers and he is certain that in the ranks of the Cricket Club some are against the decision to sell.

BOUNDARY QUESTION

It was noted, although the Cricket Club has the title to the grounds, the boundaries are uncertain because of the change in the course of the Cowichan River in that area. According to rumors, the club is planning to establish another playing field in the Cowichan Bay area.

Aldermen in general felt "an element of secrecy" was involved in the entire plan. In a letter, the council will ask the Cricket Club to provide more information on its immediate plans for the field.

Gardens Open Tomorrow

Enlists Trustees

Union Scores Again

CROFTON — The new union at the pulp mill here scored another victory Tuesday.

The unit, Local No. 2 of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Workers' Union, consists of 92 per cent of the 300 employees who broke away from the International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers.

At the time, the international appointed trustees from among those who remained in its ranks.

TRUSTEES JOIN

Tuesday four trustees joined the new local.

William Cox, president of the new local, said "We are pleased that they (the trustees) bowed to the wishes of the overwhelming majority and we like them with us."

He added "We expect that now, after the trustees resigned their posts, the rest of the Crofton employees who are still part of the international brotherhood will join us."

APPLIES TO BOARD

He said his new local will apply to the Labor Relations Board in Vancouver for certification today and it is expected the request will be granted in two to three weeks.

The present contract will end this June 30 and, when certified, the new local will inherit the present contract and will negotiate a new one for all employees of the B.C. Forest Products operation at Crofton.

Newspaper Raises Price

NANAIMO — A price increase has been announced by the Nanaimo Free Press and will take effect today.

The price per copy rises from seven cents to ten cents. Delivery price per month goes from $1.50 to $1.75.

The paper attributes the increase to increases in wages, material and mechanical costs.

Port Warned:

Six-Mill Tax Boost If Arena Bylaw Fails

PORT ALBERT — An increase of six mills in 1963 taxes will result if the $198,000 Civic Arena improvement-equipment bylaw fails.

This was one of the statements made by Mayor Loran Jordan Monday night when voters jammed all available space in council chambers.

DEFICIT EXPLAINED

A prepared statement from the mayor explained the reasons for a $131,000 deficit in the curling rink-arena construction project.

Council had expected to complete construction to the point where the building could be put to use under a previous $250,000 bylaw plus $85,000 made available by the curling club following destruction of their rink in February, 1962.

Plans were to add seating and other improvements at the arena from general funds over a period of years.

'WE'RE IN A JAM'

Mayor Jordan, referring to the over-expenditure on the building, admitted to the audience, "We're in a jam." After a barrage of criticism and questions, he stated, "We admit we have made mistakes, but they were honest mistakes. We have nothing to hide."

Gil Ingram, who had acted as secretary for a civic centre committee which had tried for years to establish an arena, led the assault as questions were fired at council.

BYLAW PURPOSE

The bylaw to be voted on May 9, is designed to cover the deficit and to provide a permanent floor, seating, paving and lighting as well as an annex to contain change rooms, a machine room and showers for the arena.

John Squire, M.L.A., questioned the figure of the division of costs of construction when clerk-comptroller Dennis Thain said that 45 per cent of the expenditure was for the curling rink and 55 per cent for the arena.

Harry Spottiswood of the curling club said his organization had spent just under $15,000 to provide facilities and equipment since taking over the rink.

COUNCIL CRITICIZED

Council was criticized by the audience for being unaware that decking for the arena was not included in the contract signed with Wilson Bros. contracting firm. Location of the rink, haste of construction in order to provide quarters for the curling club, action of the council in agreeing to an increase in the size of the rink after tenders were called, were all questioned.

Many of the critics said they would support the bylaw and Mayor Jordan expressed the hope that it would pass. He pointed out that for the first two years interest only would be paid.

When payments on the principle start, the fixed assessment agreement with MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Ltd., will have expired, with the result that industry will be paying 80 per cent of the costs, he said.

HIT BY AUSTERITY

In his prepared statement the mayor said, "our first financial setback occurred when the federal government instituted its austerity program. This had the dual effect of raising prices and depressing the municipal bond market. This occurred after the bylaw had been voted on, but before we had time to award the contract or sell the bonds. It is estimated that this cost us a total of $52,000."

City Council

Three-Mill Tax Hike Approved for Duncan

DUNCAN — City council Monday night passed a resolution to raise the 1963 mill rate to 44, up three mills from last year.

The general and debt rate will rise 1.18 mills over last year.

Plans were to add seating and other improvements at the arena from general funds over a period of years.

'WE'RE IN A JAM'

Mayor Jordan, referring to the over-expenditure on the building, admitted to the audience, "We're in a jam." After a barrage of criticism and questions, he stated, "We admit we have made mistakes, but they were honest mistakes. We have nothing to hide."

Gil Ingram, who had acted as secretary for a civic centre committee which had tried for years to establish an arena, led the assault as questions were fired at council.

BYLAW PURPOSE

The bylaw to be voted on May 9, is designed to cover the deficit and to provide a permanent floor, seating, paving and lighting as well as an annex to contain change rooms, a machine room and showers for the arena.

John Squire, M.L.A., questioned the figure of the division of costs of construction when clerk-comptroller Dennis Thain said that 45 per cent of the expenditure was for the curling rink and 55 per cent for the arena.

Harry Spottiswood of the curling club said his organization had spent just under $15,000 to provide facilities and equipment since taking over the rink.

concerning activities of the new body.

The committee consists of W. M. Hudson, J. L. Whitmore, J. J. Kerrone, H. G. Neale, R. D. Howard, and three ex-officio members, Russell Potter, Gordon Berry and Hugh Henderson.

Alderman Hamish Mutter objected to the council's decision to buy a $7,296 front-end loader and backhoe from a Vancouver firm, Rollins Machinery Ltd. He insisted the equipment should have been bought from Duncan Motors as the firm is a heavy taxpayer.

Pacific Club To Buy Building

The Pacific Club, oldest private club on the West Coast, is planning to buy the B.C. Cement Company Building for a new club site.

Membership has pledged support for the $150,000 building development drive which opened Monday night.

Club president Jack Phillion told the Colonist yesterday a number of downtown buildings had been considered on either a purchase or lease basis before the decision was made to purchase the building on Wharf Street.

"IT'S A NATURAL"

"The building is a natural for conversion to a club," Mr. Phillion said. "The down payment for the building is on the way."

He said the new club would be the ultimate in meg-private clubs. "We are going all out to make this the finest men's club on the coast."

The present Pacific Club was formed in 1885 and has been located atop the Yarrow Building, formerly the Pemberton Building, since 1910.

ADD THIRD FLOOR

Present plans call for reconstruction of the newer section of the building by adding a third storey. The rest of the property will be renovated.

The new building will afford members a view of the Inner Harbor.

"This will be the first step toward rejuvenating the old town area. We have received many letters congratulating us on the decision," Mr. Phillion said.

He said arrangements for membership parking were well in hand.

Convention Here

Experts Tackle
Car Problems

Shouldn't a man struck down in B.C. by an out-of-province car get the same compensation as he would if he were hit by a B.C. driver?

Are out-of-province drivers driving in B.C. who couldn't pass licence requirements here? Can a man rent a trailer and tow it to another state or province and be confident it will meet regulations there?

How many stolen cars are being unloaded in B.C. by thieves taking advantage of varying vehicle regulations in other states and provinces?

These are the sort of problems being considered by government officials and others from 13
western U.S. states, Alberta, Saskatchewan, B.C. and Yukon
at a convention which began Monday in Victoria.

More than 200 delegates are here until Thursday at the 30th annual conference of region four,
American Association of Motor Vehicle Administrators.

One of the biggest goals of the association, said Ray Hadfield, deputy-superintendent of the B.C. motor vehicles branch, is a simple updating procedure whereby states and provinces could take advantage co-operatively of improvements in safety methods.

SAFETY ADVANCE
For example, he said, amber direction signals on 1963-model cars are a safety advance which could have been brought about years ago but for laws on the books of a few states.

Delegates heard a leading Canadian automobile insurance executive say U.S. lawmakers could well emulate their Canadian counterparts by modernizing legislation concerning insurance of motor vehicles.

STATES LAGGING
Merlin Donald of Montreal, vice-president of the All Canada
Insurance Federation, said neighboring states are lagging behind western Canadian provinces in car insurance legislation.

He said B.C.'s "pink slip" insurance minimum of $35,000 is the highest of any jurisdiction in North America. Of the 13 states represented at the conference, most have law requiring only $10,000 to $20,000 in insurance coverage for third-party liability.

CHIREMBAS ORGANIZE
SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesian medicine men announced Tuesday they had formed a Central African Chirembas, (medicine men)

the group's basic principles will be to set up six months apprenticeship for aspiring medicine men.

... worst beating

Fanfani Regime At End?

ROME (AP)—Italy's unpredictable voters have handed Premier Amintore Fanfani's Christian Democrat party its worst election beating. His left-leaning government is in jeopardy.

The Communists, picking up 1,000,000 votes over their showing in the 1958 election, won a quarter of the some 31,000,000 votes cast. They rank as the No. 2 party in Italian politics.

The Christian Democrats maintained their standing as Italy's No. 1 party, but with little consolation.

Their total seats dropped to 41 from 46 per cent in the Chamber of Deputies and to 42 from 50 per cent in the Senate.

SOCIALISTS IMPROVE

Among their partners in a coalition government that has experimentally swung the North Atlantic Treaty nation leftward, only the Democratic Socialists improved on their 1958 showing. The Republicans

Ben Bella Solidifies Control

ALGERIA (UPI)—The Algerian government announced today the resignation of a third top official, leaving Premier Ahmed Ben Bella in virtual one-man control of the country.

The announcement, which said Ben Bella provisionally assumed the minister's portfolio, meant he controls five of the top 10 government offices and in the ruling National Liberation Front.

HAY RIVER, N.W.T. (CP) — Officials Tuesday night declared this town and a nearby fishing village, both located on an island, an emergency area as an ice jam at the mouth of the Hay River continued to threaten the communities with serious flooding.

Low-lying areas in this town of 1,800 and in the fishing village, which has about 400 residents, were already under several feet of water.

WATER BACKS UP

The flooding was caused by river ice jamming against ice-covered Great Slave Lake, causing water to back up along the west and east channels of the island.

Mayor W. R. McBryan said the most serious threat is to the fishing village on the island's west channel.

TAKE TO BOATS?

He said village residents have moved to buildings on higher ground but may have to board boats "if the ice doesn't crush them."

Mr. McBryan said "it could be some time before relief comes through breaking up of lake ice. We've declared it an emergency area."

ARMY ON WAY

"An army demolition team is on its way from Edmonton but I don't know if they'll be able to do anything," Mayor McBryan said.

If it becomes necessary residents of both the town and village would be evacuated to the mainland. About 300 residents of an Indian village on the mainland have already moved farther inland.

SHELTER IN SCHOOLS

The mayor said between 300 and 400 persons are sheltered in the federal school here and a similar number in the separate school. Other town residents are in a number of smaller buildings on high ground.

Evacuation is not the major problem, he said, pointing out that the town has a 10-day supply of filtered water.

HEALTH HAZARD

"When this thing is over we're going to have a very serious health hazard," he said.

All stores and bars in the town have been closed. Hay River residents were warned by the sounding of a siren at 6:30 p.m. MST Tuesday to move to high ground. The majority went to the schools.

To Discourage Murder

Legislator Urges Executions on TV

SACRAMENTO, Calif. — A legislator has proposed that four executions scheduled for next week be televised to test the theory that the death penalty tends to discourage murder.

Assemblyman Lester McMillan of Culver City offered a resolution in the lower house of the legislature that would permit television cameras in the gas chamber at San Quentin prison for the quadruple execution, scheduled for next Friday.

"As of now," a spokesman for the state department of corrections told reporters, "our policy is that we do not permit it. We will wait and see if the legislature adopts the resolution."

There was no indication when the resolution will be considered.

"I am opposed to the death penalty as futile and barbaric," McMillan said. "Those who would retain the death penalty nevertheless insist that its application deters the commission of crime."

"Why not test their theory?" he asked.

Cuba Deal Charged

Dominicans Claim Haiti Link to Reds

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — The Dominican government charged Tuesday that President Francois Duvalier of Haiti had close ties with Communist nations and had offered a military base to Cuba.

The latest charge in Santo Domingo's blazing feud with neighboring Haiti was laid before an inter-American peace mission by Foreign Minister Andres Brette.

The mission arrived by plane from New York to head off a threatened military clash between the two neighbors, then flew on to Port au Prince.

Associated Press correspondent Morris Rosenberg in Port au Prince reported Duvalier's regime imposed censorship on outgoing news dispatches shortly after the team from the Organization of American States arrived.

Details of Brette's charges were not made public, but there were reports that Haiti had entered into some sort of arrangement with Communist Czechoslovakia.

UNAWARE OF DEAL

In Washington, U.S. state department press officer Lincoln White said he was unaware of an offer by Duvalier to Cuban Premier Fidel Castro nor did he know anything about reports of a deal between Czechoslovakia and Haiti. Haiti is only 50 miles from Cuba.

The mission, headed by OAS Council President Gonzalo Falcio de Costa Rica, scheduled talks in Port au Prince with Duvalier and Foreign Minister Rene Chalmers to try to calm tempers and head off a conflict between the neighboring enemies on this Caribbean island of Hispaniola.

Equimatt-style land rush has four would-be property owners already with 12 hours still to go before 17 municipal-owned lots go on sale at Lugin Place. Municipal hall buyers included, from left, Mrs. C. E. Clark, Charles Arkins, C. E. Clark and Kenneth Miller in sleeping bag. Clarks were first to arrive at hall at 8:00 p.m. Lots go on sale at 9 a.m. — (Bud Kineman.)

All-Night Lineup For Lots

Some watched television, chatted, read, or drank coffee, but all were gathered in Equimatt Municipal Hall last night for one purpose—to make sure they would be first to purchase a lot on the new subdivision at Lugin Place. The lots go on sale at 9 a.m. today.

The land rush, Equimatt-style, started about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when the municipal hall received a phone call enquiring whether the lineup for land had started.

That was Charles Arkins, 242½ Island Highway. He had supper then drove down, not hurrying. When he arrived, the line had started.

First at the hall were Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Clark, 3474 Seymour. The hall door was locked so they got police to open up.

By 9 p.m., complete with lunches, sleeping bags and books, 12 people were gathered in the hall waiting for the office to open at 9 a.m. when the 17 lots ranging from $1,800 to $2,500 go on sale.

TORONTO (CP) — Prime Minister Pearson, about to head into separate talks with Prime Minister Macmillan and President Kennedy, said Tuesday night that his life-long dream has been the creation of an Atlantic community joined indissolubly by spiritual, moral and economic bonds.

He told the annual dinner of The Canadian Press that such a community would be an important step toward world peace.

"It is my duty—and my determination—to protect and advance the interests of my country," he said. "It is also my duty—and my determination—to remember that, in doing this, Canada must work for peace and progress; and that this can only be done by cultivating the best possible relations with other nations."

MENTIONS FIRST GOAL

"First among these, are the nations of the Commonwealth and the Atlantic coalition. To create and maintain the greatest possible unity among these nations, for security and for peace and for prosperity, will be a first objective of the foreign policy of the present Canadian government."

ATLANTIC COMMUNITY

"One of my most cherished dreams for a long time has been to see one day an Atlantic community linked by many indissoluble spiritual, moral, social and economic bonds that its common life will have a permanent influence, not only on the lives of its member peoples, but on the hopes of all peoples for peace and human brotherhood."

MORE CONFIDENCE

Mr. Pearson told the gathering that he believes there already is increased confidence in Canada among Canadians and also among other nations.

"If I am right, this tangible, though vital, result could be a very long step toward the solution to most of our problems. For without confidence little else matters. With it, and with hard work, with sound policies, and with wise action, we can move mountains."

PRIORITY LIST

Making his first public address since being sworn in as Canada's 14th prime minister eight days ago, the Liberal leader told his audience of 460 that the restoration of confidence in Canadian affairs is the first item on his list of priority items to be tackled by the new government.

Mr. Pearson indicated that he has been disturbed by press attention to his campaign promise of "60 days of decision."

'HAS CAUSED STIR'

"It has caused quite a stir on Parliament Hill, especially in the press gallery," he told the gathering of publishers, editors and newspaper executives.

"Every day that goes by is ticked off as one day of action gone by. I have even been asked whether Sundays count!"

"I have been told that members of the press gallery are keeping a close check on each day's developments, keeping a detailed record for posterity, I suppose."

KEEPING BOX MORE

"I understand they plan regular recapitulations — weekly, after 10 days, after 20 — with a full form chart to be presented after 30 days of 'hits, runs and errors,' especially errors."

Mr. Pearson said he is concerned that after 60 days there there may be an idea that the government's job is done.

"This is not my intention." He said he is anxious to get started on the legislative program for the 28th Parliament which is to open Thursday, May 16.

VITAL ROLE

Mr. Pearson said the press of Canada has a vital role to play in meeting the challenges which face the nation. "So I invite your vigilance. I expect your criticism. I need your help and co-operation, not in a partisan way but in the difficult tasks it is now my honor, my privilege and my responsibility to carry out."

Castro Cause

U.S. Staff Snubs Red Celebrations

MOSCOW (UPI) — A U.S. embassy spokesman said Ambassador Foy Kohler and the embassy staff are boycotting the Soviet May Day celebrations today in Red Square in which Cuban Premier Fidel Castro was starred.

It was the first such May Day boycott since the United States established relations with the Soviet Union in 1933.

The spokesman declined to state the official reason for the boycott. However, it was understood to have been sparked by the presence of Castro.

ATTACKS U.S.

Disclosure of the U.S. boycott came as Defence Minister Malinovsky opened the May Day festivities.

Malinovsky accused the United States and its allies of "hatching reckless plans for triggering off a world thermonuclear war." He warned that the Soviet armed forces "are at constant battle readiness and are capable together with the armies of the Socialist countries of smashing any aggression if it should dare to carry out an attack on our homeland and the fraternal Socialist countries."

CASTRO TO COUNTRY

Premier Khrushchev and Premier Castro took a break Tuesday in their private talks in the Kremlin and drove to Khrushchev's country home 30 miles outside Moscow for what the government newspaper Izvestia called another "lively conversation."

Enough U.S. Missiles

Kill! Kill! Kill!—1,250 Times

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Columbia University professor claims $22,000,000,000 can be clipped from the 1964 U.S. military budget which as drafted authorizes an outlay of $56,780,000,000.

SEYMOUR MELMAN

Seymour Melman, a professor of industrial engineering at Columbia, with five other university faculty members and a professional economist, say they have sent details of their proposal to members of Congress and the executive department of the U.S. government.

A major point in Melman's argument is that the defence department has far more nuclear weapons than are needed to blast all potential targets.

MELMAN SAYS

Melman said the United States could "overkill" the Soviet Union by 1,250 times. He said the United States has about 3,400 strategic weapons — aircraft and missiles — with a stockpile of nuclear warheads twice the number deliverable by the weapons systems; Russia has about 140 cities of more than 100,000 population which would be overkilled 1,250 times if all warheads were used, even allowing for a 50-per-cent failure in delivery.

Melman also says Russian's nuclear arsenal is adequate for an overkill of U.S. targets by 145 times.

ON MILITARY MANPOWER

On military manpower strength, the United States and its allies muster 8,000,000 men against 7,700,000 for the Communist bloc, Melman believes.

What Melman and his associates propose is a "maintenance" of present forces

Billions Wasted

budget, with sharp reduction in procurement of weapons, a slash in research, developing and testing and other cuts to make the total reduction $22,000,000,000. He would cut the U.S. Atomic Energy Commission's budget by two-thirds because "it makes no sense to continue plants and filling warehouses and caves with further nuclear warheads."

HE WOULD CHOP

He would chop entirely foreign military assistance from what he says is the administration budget proposal for $2,893,000,000.
